His Millions In Jeopardy

M. L. ANNENBERG

Multi-millionaire publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, and owner of a chain of radio, movie and horse racing magazines, has been indicted in Chicago on 10 counts involving $8,548,384 income tax evasion. Annenberg is also wanted in Toronto, Ont., to face a gaming house charge.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—M. L. Annenberg, his son, Walter, and two business associates surrendered to the United States Marshal today, posted bonds totalling $175,000 and were released until their trial on charges of evading $5,548,384 tax, plus penalties, on the publisher's income.

TERMINATION TRUCK PACTS LAID TO ACT

Parliament Authorized Changes Which Railroads Made

That the termination of contracts with truckers and drivers who had formerly handled Imperial Oil Limited products in Alberta from the Turner Valley field was made necessary by provisions of the Transport Act and that the company was not a free agent in the matter, was the statement made by S. R. Stevens, divisional manager of the Imperial Oil Limited, this morning.

The cancellation of the contracts had been protested by the men concerned, many of whom were relying solely on this work for their livelihood. Explaining the situation today Mr. Stevens issued the following statement:

"With full knowledge of the facts, we believe the truckers will realize that in this matter Imperial Oil Limited has not been a free agent since both the railways and the remedy of their complaint rest with parliament and not with the company.

"In the Transport Act, 1938, through the agreed charges section, parliament gave the railways an instrument to recover business lost to other transport interests.

"Because we pioneered the petroleum distributing business in Alberta in days when there were no highways, practically all our 267 bulk plants are situated on railway rights-of-way. We pay monthly rentals for these sites. We are permitted to lease them because the railways would enjoy our business.

"So long as the rail rates were higher than trucking costs we could

Nazis Switch Tautness In Nerves' War

By The Canadian Press

The tautness of Europe's "war of nerves" slackened today as Germany turned her immediate attention from the Danzig question to build political fences in Eastern Europe and a new feeling of optimism is arising in Great Britain.

Although Germany's army stood ready to back up Nazi demands on Poland, diplomatic problems were believed to have shifted German attention for the time being.

They revolved around Count Stefan Csaky, Hungarian foreign minister, and the attitude of Hungary in the event of conflict.

Germany was believed to want to know if she could use the Carpatho-Ukraine, recently annexed by Hungary, as a jumping off place in case of hostilities with Poland and whether Hungary would be sympathetically neutral in a time of tension.

DEPARTS SUDDENLY

Count Csaky, after three days in Germany, departed suddenly by airplane and arrived this afternoon in Rome where he will see Italian Foreign Minister Ciano. An authoritative source said the visit was "in connection with the international situation."

In Budapest, meanwhile, a foreign spokesman characterized as "entirely untrue." German newspaper comment that Germany and Hungary had become "comrades in arms."

The well-informed commentary, Dienst Aus Deutschland, said Germany and Hungary see "eye to eye."

U.F.A. PROTEST INCREASE OF FREIGHT RATES

Executive Charges Discrimination Against West

CALGARY, Aug. 18—The executive of the United Farmers of Alberta today forwarded a protest against any possible increase of freight rates in western Canada to the federal department of transport at Ottawa, officials announced.

The resolution states that the federal department of transport have intimated that in order to balance the railway budget of Canada freight rates have to be increased.

At present, freight rates in western Canada are much higher than in eastern Canada and these higher rates are discriminating against residents of the west, the resolution continues. Any increase in freight rates will inlensify the present acute economic disabilities of western agriculture, the U.F.A. claimed.

Furthermore, the resolution states that the U.F.A. executive is of the opinion "that a reduction of the freight rates structure of the west to a parity with that of eastern Canada for similar services rend-

Poland Rejects Any Parley Over Danzig

Britain Turns Down Hitler's Bid To Talk

By RICHARD D. MacMILLAN
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

PARIS, Aug. 18—Poland's determination not to be "Runcinamized" or to participate in any international conference to settle the Danzig problem has been fully endorsed by Great Britain and France during negotiations in the past 48 hours, it was understood here today.

PARIS, Aug. 18. — Havas News agency in a London dispatch tonight quoted a reliable diplomatic source as stating Great Britain had received, and rejected, a suggestion from Hitler that a special British envoy be sent to Germany to discuss the Danzig problem.

The diplomatic sources, Havas said, stated the proposal was sent to London through Professor Carl Burckhardt, League of Nations high commissioner for Danzig, who went to Germany last week-end and is understood to have talked with Hitler personally.

Britain and France have reaffirmed their decision to continue their previous policy not to interfere in any way with Poland's complete independence in handling the "free city" issue as she sees fit.

With this basis reassured, the British, French and Polish governments are acting in completely accord in maintaining an unflinching front to the "axis" campaign, which has reached a fever point, recalling the days before "Munich".

The Poles were said to be absolutely secure in their position because it is recognized that, strongly reinforced by men and munitions on their West Platte base, they would be able to crush any Nazi internal move within the Free City, provided no external aid is given by Germany.

Under these circumstances, a Nazi move to try to create a second non-intervention plan based on experience in the Spanish civil war, whereby Danzig would surreptitiously be given help while all other powers keep out, is suspected as a possible plan in the mind of Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Britain, France and Poland are reaching views on the confidential report of Dr. Karl Burckhardt, League of Nations high commis-

Escapes

JAMES MAIL BODMAN

Flight Lieut. James M. Bodman, R.A.F., formerly of this city, who parachuted to safety when his plane crashed in mid-air with another while flying over Acklington, Northumberland, England, on Friday morning.

MIRACULOUS escape from death was the experience of a young Edmontonian, now a member of the Royal Air Force, while flying over Acklington, Northumberland County, on Friday morning, when the plane in which he was flying crashed with another in mid-air. The young airman, Flight-Lieutenant James Mail Bodman, parachuted from his machine and landed uninjured.

Data on the accident was cabled immediately by the young man to R. A. Andison, clerk of the legislative assembly. The young officer is a nephew of Mrs. Andison and a grandson of Mrs. Mail, also of this city.

While details of the accident are lacking, it is believed it took place while the R. A. F. was carrying out air manoeuvres in the north of England.

Flight Lieutenant Bodman studied at Garneau public school and later attended McDougall Commercial High school. Later he worked in the offices of the Alberta Liquor Control Board.

He left this city in November of 1936 to join the Royal Air Force, with which service he has remained.

Following special success in his chosen force, he was recently appointed one of a group of 12 officers to be transferred to the large and important British air base at Iraq, to which point he expects to go next month.

HONG KONG TO BE NEXT MARK OF JAPANESE

Faced With British Refusal Nippon Threatens Anglo Territory

TOKYO, Aug. 18—Faced with a British refusal to include economic questions in negotiations to settle the Tientsin dispute, Japanese unofficially threatened tonight to break off the conversations and to take further reprisals against Great Britain's Far Eastern interests.

Tokyo newspapers, reporting that Hong Kong and the adjacent Kowloon leased territory had been cut off by the Japanese army from the rest of China, hinted the British crown colony would be Japan's next target.

The British were given "a few days" to reconsider their stand, semi-official Japanese sources said, and were handed a "vigorous warning" of the consequences to be expected should negotiations break down.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18. — Twenty-five years ago there was pomp and military fanfare when the German nation decorated a twice-wounded officer for gallantry.

Reservists Told To Hold Themselves In Readiness For War

LONDON, Aug. 18.—An informant close to the war office said Thursday that two classes of regular army reservists have been ordered to hold most of their personal wartime equipment until October 15.

The number of these reservists —"A" and "B" classes—are not made public by the war office, but informed military observers put them at nearly 100,000 men.

They represent troops who have served between seven and 15 years with the regular army and who undergo one month's training yearly.

Usually after their month in camp is completed—this year they are undergoing training in sections over "staggered" periods — they leave all equipment at camp stores and return home.

General Progress In Grain Harvesting Is Report Over Prairie

WINNIPEG, Aug. 18.—Even with changeable weather across the western prairies during the past week, general progress in the cutting of wheat and coarse grains is reported by the Canadian Pacific Railway agricultural department. From estimates reported to headquarters through agents on C.P.R. lines Manitoba averages 90 per cent of wheat already cut; Saskatchewan about 32 per cent; Alberta 13 per cent.

Wheat cutting is general in the Peace River district, where the weather has alternated between heat and showers. Prospects are generally favorable and the wheat yield is expected to average 29 bushels to the acre.

Manitoba's average for the same period is slightly above last year, with Saskatchewan and Alberta slightly lower. In Manitoba 81 per cent. of oats and 90 of barley have been cut. Temperatures in Alberta and Saskatchewan have topped Manitoba, where rains were generous also.

South-east and east-central Saskatchewan report heavy rains, with precipitation elsewhere confined to scattered showers. Threshing and combining are active in southern localities in all three provinces, the extreme southern portion of Manitoba rating from five to 80 per cent. thrashed.

Outturns average all the way from eight to 30 bushels to the acre.

Cancer Proves To Be Most Common Complaint Among Women: Causative Factors Are Shown

BY far the most common site of cancer of this class is the womb. Next to the breast, this organ is the most common origin of cancer in women. These cancers are of two main types. One attacks the neck, the other the body of the womb.

The first is six times as common as the second.

The treatment differs considerably in the two types.

Cancer of the neck of the womb may occur in women who have not borne children, but injuries at childbirth are probably the most important causitive factors. It is a most insidious disease.

At first it produces no pain or loss of weight. A slight discharge is usually the first indication to a woman that something may be wrong. Even then the growth may have progressed and spread beyond the site of origin. Any female complaining of any discharge should have a thorough examination by her doctor at once. The only safe thing for a woman past 30 who has borne children is to submit to periodic examinations and have her physician treat any minor disorders that may be present. If these are properly cured for the possibility of cancer developing is greatly reduced.

Early detection by patient and doctor of this insidious lesion is very essential. If found early, many of these growths respond readily to x-ray and radium.

Cancer of the body of the womb as already stated, is not as common as that of the neck. It usually occurs after the menopause. It frequently occurs in women who have not borne children. It is often associated with other tumors, such as fibroids.

The chief warning symptom is a discharge, which may be watery or colored. Abnormal discharge during the menopause or after the menopause calls for a very thorough investigation. In fact, for safety it would be well to assume that these symptoms are due to cancer until a thorough examination by your doctor proves it to be otherwise.

Treatment of cancer of the body of the womb calls for surgery, x-ray and radium.

This is the fifth of a short series of articles on cancer which are being published by The Edmonton Bulletin in co-operation with the Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer. Radio station CFRN is also co-operating in this community service. The series brings a message of hope to sufferers and their friends. Cancer can be cured if it is caught in time. Edmonton doctors and Edmonton hospitals are adequately equipped to treat cancer cases. These articles, from the pens of well-known doctors, tell you the facts about cancer and warn you of the danger signs. Read them.—EDITOR.

Police Are On Watch

Below—Arthur Armstrong

Edmonton police are pressing a widespread search for the pair pictured above — Arthur Armstrong, 26, escaped convict, and George Connor, 12-year-old Toronto boy who is alleged to have been abducted by Armstrong. The pair are reported to have been seen in Regina and Calgary recently.

Kidnapped Boy, 12, Held Hostage By Convict Sought Here

Report that Arthur Armstrong, 26-year-old escaped convict and alleged abductor of George Connor, 12, of Toronto, is believed to have been seen in Calgary last Wednesday in company with the missing boy, led Edmonton police Friday to press a widespread search for the pair in this district.

Armstrong is alleged to have abducted young Connor in Toronto July 8. Several Regina residents reported to police recently that they believed they had seen the man and boy in that city three weeks ago, having recognized them from pictures published in the newspapers.

SEARCH UNDERWAY

Det.-Insp. John Leslie, of the Edmonton police force, said Friday he had received pictures and descriptions of the two. "If they were in Calgary this week it's possible Armstrong may be coming north," he said. "We are making an intensive search in this district, based on that possibility."

In Calgary, shortly after midnight Wednesday, James Rintoul, employee of a Ninth avenue liquor store, told police he thought he saw Armstrong and a boy "who looked scared to death," in the liquor store. He had seen them Monday.

The case has created nation-wide interest, and police forces in all parts of the continent have been supplied with photographs and detailed descriptions of the pair.

Toronto police hold a warrant for the arrest of Armstrong on an abduction charge. Wanted in Toronto and Guelph, Ont., for theft and escaping custody, he disappeared

JUG M'SPADEN HAS 3-STROKE LEAD IN OPEN

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Aug. 18.—Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., fired his second sub-par round over Riverside Golf and Country Club's course today for a 36-hole total of 136 and a three-stroke lead on the field in the Canadian open golf championships.

A partial blow-up by Jerry Gianfortoni of Colais, Me., and a fine recovery by Bobby Cruickshank, the wee Scot from Richmond, Va., left them running one-two, respectively, at the half-way mark in the Canadian open golf championship today. Gianfortoni finished with 76, six over par, for a 36-hole total of 146. This gave him a one stroke edge on Cruickshank, who came in with 72 for 140.

LOAN COMPANIES NOT INTERESTED IN LEGISLATION

CALGARY, Aug. 18.—A canvas of Calgary managers of loan, mortgage and insurance companies today revealed there are no plans existed in any Alberta legislation that will protect all private and public loans advanced by either individuals or companies for building homes in Alberta under the Dominion Housing Act.

Hon. Solon Low, Alberta provincial treasurer, and Hon. N. E. Tanner, provincial minister of lands and mines, in discussing housing affairs with Calgary's citizens' committee yesterday announced that the government is prepared to draft loan protection legislation but that the government will not repeal existing debt adjustment legislation.

TERMINATION TRUCK PACTS LAID TO ACT

exercise a moral, though not a legal right, to permit some trucking of our products, although clearly this defeated the purpose of the railways in allowing us to operate on their property. We could say to the railways: "If you want our business you must be competitive," and we felt that under the circumstances they would not go so far as to terminate our lease and to put us to the heavy cost of moving nearly all our 267 plants, and to the disorganization and heavy loss of business which would be experienced when the plants were set up on other property.

"When parliament authorized agreed charges, enabling the railways to offer truck competitive rates to shippers, who move substantially all their goods by rail, the railways clearly had both moral and a legal right to terminate our lease if we did not use their services at these competitive rates.

FIRE REGULATIONS

"If we had to remove from the railway property we would in most cases be unable to get equally convenient locations because of regulations in many municipalities do not permit such large tankage as ours in proximity to dwellings. However, our large tankage is necessary to protect the farmer against possible failure of supply at harvest time. We could not and might not in the fields. Inconvenient locations would cause us to lose business.

"The company management could not justify to the thousands of investors who are its owners the expenditure of more than $500,000.00 to remove its plant from railway property, particularly when this would result in no operating savings, because of the willingness of the railways to make truck-compelled rates.

"Nor would it face disorganization of its business which would result in the loss of many customers with consequent reduced volume and an increased unit cost.

"Most of the trucking of Imperial Oil-Limited products that has been done in Alberta has been on about 100 of the company's agents and the company, realizing that sooner or later Agent Trucking would result in terminating this, allowed its agents full rail rates so that they might make most hay while the sun shone.

"The company also was careful to advise its agents of its feeling that due to the company's position as tenant of the railways, trucking could be regarded only as a temporary expedient to be terminated at the desire of the railways through the instrumentality of agreed charges."

PROTEST TO OTTAWA

The "agreed charges" section referred to by Mr. Stevens was written into the Transport Act last year and came into force by proclamation on October 1. It gives railways the power to make contracts with shippers for the shipping of specific shipments and to set, in return, reduced freight tariffs for such exclusive shipments. The agreements are reviewed by the dominion transport board.

First company operating in Alberta to enter into such agreement is the railway and the Imperial Oil Limited must now ban truck shipments of oil and other products of the company where such shipments can be made by rail.

Truckers formerly handling this business are appealing the "agreed charges" clauses of the Transport Act, fearing that an extension of the practice will put them out of business.

sioner for Danzig, regarding his meeting with Hitler, at which it was indicated the fuehrer adopted his familiar role of a table-thumping monologist and insisted the Danzig must return to the Reich.

The talk between Dr. Burckhardt and Hitler never got beyond a discussion of incidents in the Danzig. It was understood, and therefore nothing in the nature of a new plan was evolved between the fuehrer and the High Commissioner.

The calmness with which Britain, France and Poland are facing the present international "crisis" is a striking contrast to the pre-Munich days, nearly almost a year ago. The situation, however, is changed, as it is recognized that Poland is the key to the line of action now to be taken and will never permit any power to take on the role of a substitute in dealing with the Nazis, as happened during the Czech-Nazi issue that led to dismemberment of Czecho-Slovakia.

Hungarian Minister Leaves For Italy Visit

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—Hungary's foreign minister, Count Stefen Csaky, left Germany today for Italy after a three-day visit which aprread speculation and left behind some confusion as to its purpose and results.

DNB, official German news agency, circulated a denial Csaky saw either Hitler or the foreign minister, Ribbentrop.

On the other hand, the Dienst Aus Deutschland observed Csaky's visit made evident Hungary and Germany "see completely eye to eye as regards their conception of co-operative politics."

Individual German editors, trusted for their reliability by their foreign colleagues, went even further.

They said unreservedly Hungary now was definitely committed to "arms ("waffenbruder") and would act with Germany, come what may.

Local correspondents of various foreign news agencies at Salzburg had readily obtained information as to the exact hours of the Hitler-Csaky and Csaky - Ribbentrop meetings.

Poland took further measures for the security of her border with Germany by authorizing her military to "take over" all "movable and parcel" large landed estates along the frontier. The large number of landed estates, sparsely populated, also regarded as a handicap to frontier defence.

CONTINUES ACCOUNTS

The German press continued its accounts of alleged terrorism against Germans in Poland. Dr. Otto Dietrich, in Germany, it was said that quarters for German refugees from Poland would be taxed by the more than 26,000 "Volksdeutsche" who the official German news agency said had been forced to flee because of "brutal treatment."

Warsaw papers, on the other hand, reported many "refugees" were entering Poland from Germany, complaining of anti-Polish measures in Germany.

At Geneva the World Zionist Congress appealed to the League of Nations Council to reject Britain's plan for an independent state in Palestine.

Britain rejected Japan's demands that economic questions be included in the Anglo-Japanese negotiations at Tokyo for settlement of the Tientsin issue.

AT LEAST ONE WELL IN B. C. PEACE BLOCK

CALGARY, Aug 18.—The British Columbia government will have at least one well completed this fall in the B.C. Peace River block west of Pouce Coupe, as a start of its program for a thorough test of the area, said Hon. W. J. Asselstine, B.C. minister of mines, here Thursday.

Mr. Asselstine said he plans to leave Calgary for the Peace River district by plane tomorrow to meet his geological party for the purpose of settling a location for the well.

Dr. G. S. Hume, head of the Federal geological survey, will accompany him, he said.

Lives Jeopardized In Heavy Floods

WELLINGTON, Aug. 18.—Hundreds of lives were jeopardized last night by floods in New Zealand's Manawatu river region, where the Manawatu and other rivers overflowed their banks as a result of heavy rains. CAMPBELL HITS 134 MILES AN HOUR IN BOAT

John Cobb Makes Land Speed of 352.94 M.P.H. at Bonneville

CONISTON, England, Aug. 18—The speedboat Bluebird II, with Sir Malcolm Campbell at the wheel, skimmed over Lake Coniston today at 134 miles an hour, the fastest time ever made by man on water.

Officially, however, this was not a new record. The run must be made both ways over the measured mile.

Campbell was forced to stop at the end of the downward journey because of trouble with the Bluebird's water intake.

Discussing the time over the mile, which he covered in 26.7 seconds, Campbell said, "this conclusively proves that the Bluebird's new design is far superior."

This burst of speed, which came after two hours of floating about the misty surface of the lake, was accomplished with the old engine which Sir Henry Segrave was driving when he was killed on Lake Windermere. It is nine years old.

The engine which Campbell will drive for the record probably will go in tomorrow.

Cobb Comes Near Record of Eyston

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 18—John Cobb steered his racing car through the measured mile on the snow white salt flats today at a speed announced as 352.94 miles an hour.

The northbound run started at 6:45 a.m. (7:45 a.m. M.S.T.) from a point approximately 2 miles south of the measured mile markers.

To observers it appeared as if the English driver shot the motors on his 2,600-horsepower automobile before he had completed the full mile.

His speed, however, exceeded his own previous high of 350.3, set on this course last September, and was only about 4.5 miles an hour short of Captain George E. T. Eyston's world land speed record of 357.5.

Cobb cancelled plans for a return run and postponed further assaults on the land speed record at least until tomorrow.

A. A. Pillsbury of the American Automobile Association, said today's run would not be credited as official. He is chief timer.

ered, is a measure of justice long overdue to western Canada.

Robert Gardiner of Excel, Alta., president of the U.F.A., stated the resolution was prepared following reports said to have been published in Toronto of an address made by Hon. G. D. Howe, federal minister of transport.

Mr. Howe was credited with stating that in order to solve the rail way problem "we need more traffic at reasonable rates," said U.F.A. president.

INCREASED RATES

The U.F.A. does not see where increased traffic is to come from and, therefore, the U.F.A. assumes the reasonable rates means rates that will pay or in other words, increased rates, said Mr. Gardiner.

The assumption is that prospects are for higher rates and we want to protest against them, he added.

The U.F.A.'s information of Mr. Howe's address came from the Alberta Co-operative Council, Mr. Gardiner revealed.

The executive also decided to ask all companies lending money on farm mortgages to make a reduction of interest rates in Alberta for 1939, chiefly because of low prices prevailing for agricultural products at the present time. Payment of interest of six per cent or more on farm mortgages is impossible in the great majority of cases, the U.F.A. finds.

It was agreed that the U.F.A. ask the Alberta government to co-operate with the federal government to make possible community pastures in Alberta, similar to those established in Saskatchewan and Manitoba under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act.

Prints Military Secret

LONDON, Aug. 18—A lifting of eyebrows over a military article in the home made newspaper of two nephews of the King added to today.

Viscount Lascelles, 16, and Hon. Gerald Lascelles, 15, both students at Eton, recently inspected a new model anti-aircraft gun in company with Sydney industries. During the school vacation they "published" a typewritten newspaper for circulation among about 200 tenants on the estate of their father, the Earl of Harewood, and family friends.

It has been notable only for shrewd rating eclectic writing by the Earl who has an extensive stable.

An alert reporters the boys described the anti-aircraft gun in their paper. This caused surprise because the model had been on the war office "secret" list. Today it was explained at the war office the gun involved was removed from the list and an authorized description may have been obtained by the young publishers.

the war came, but volunteered. He won the iron cross, first class.

He took up his war-shattered career in the peace that came, and won prominence. Veith was president of the Gottingen medical society and one of Germany's leading ophthalmologists.

But his parents were Jewish. In the Nazi Reich, he was stripped of his positions and fled Germany. His wife, purest of Aryans, chose exile with him.

They came to live with their son, a Gottingen professor here, but were unhappy. One son was still in Germany. Dr. Veith, 71, was too old to make a new career.

Tuesday night, arm in arm, they turned on the gas in their room.

"We are going to seek happiness in eternity together," wrote the war hero and his wife. "Have courage." They signed it "Mama" and "Papa," in the German fashion.

WIND CHANGE ENDS MENACE NORTH BLAZE

Bush Fire Burning at Yellowknife; Volunteer Crew Ready

The mining settlement of Yellowknife on Great Slave Lake was threatened for a time by a bush fire on the opposite shore of Yellowknife Bay but a change in the wind direction removed the menace, according to a dispatch received in the city today.

The fire had been burning in the bush since August 3, according to the radio message from Fort Smith. The wind carried the fire to the shore, and residents of Yellowknife feared for a time it would ravage buildings and bush around the settlement, but the wind changed and blew the fire back from the bay in another direction.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police on the spot were watching the fire closely, and there is ample fire fighting equipment available, the message said. Volunteer fire fighters recruited from Yellowknife and adjacent mining properties are ready to go into action should another menace arise.

SECOND GRIM WARNING FROM ACROSS OCEAN

Day Here When World Had to Decide Whether to Be Germanized

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC, Aug. 18.—A second grim warning from across the sea was delivered to the Canadian Bar Association last night when Maitre Jacques Charpentier of Paris, representing the French bar, said the day had arrived when the world had to decide whether it should be Germanized.

Wednesday night the warning came from a Britisher, Thursday from a Frenchman. Wednesday Lord Chancellor Sankey, told of Britain's determination to resist German domination of Europe.

M. Charpentier spoke in French and apologized for the sombreness of his remarks which were sandwiched among witty after-dinner speeches from Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, Lord Maugham, and Frank Hogan of Washington, representing the American bar.

MAY BE CALLED

"I would like to be gay," he said, "but words coming from Europe today knows that tomorrow or any day he may be called back to the army, home destroyed or his son mobilized.

"The day is at hand when the world must choose whether it shall be Germanized," said M. Charpentier. "It may be the end of August or the beginning of September, but it will not happen but if it does every man must make his choice."

NO LONGER GAP

There was no longer a great gap separating Canada from Europe.

The Atlantic now was crossed by airplanes and Canadians heard Hitler on the radio.

German propaganda was strong in Canada as elsewhere, said M. Charpentier, but sometimes influenced people of the best intentions. Sometimes the most patriotic citizens, without knowing it, were the agents of Nazism.

AMUSEMENT TAX SCHEDULE GETS REVISION NOW

There is no change in the schedule of tickets that sell for 25 cents to 10 cents to dances, the tax being one cent as heretofore. There is no change in the two cent tax on tickets from 11 to 30 cents. Tickets costing from 31 to 37 cents will have a three-cent tax, while a five cent tax will be applied to tickets costing from 38 to 50 cents, while heretofore this amount has been taxed on tickets from 26 to 50 cents.

Rolland was held on an open charge and was removed to Lincoln county jail at nearby St. Catharines.

JACKIE COOGAN GETS $126,000 FROM EARNINGS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Jackie Coogan, who estimated he earned $4,000,000 in the days when he was "The Kid" of the early Charlie Chaplin comedies, accepted $126,000 Thursday as his share of what remains.

To his mother, Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein, and his stepfather, Arthur Bernstein, went a similar sum under terms of an agreement approved in Superior Court.

Liquidation of the Coogan-Bernstein holdings after a preliminary settlement last April disclosed a fortune of $252,000, half of which goes to the 24-year-old actor, half to the Bernsteins.

The agreement settled only part of Coogan's domestic troubles. His wife, actress Betty Grable, is suing for divorce.

Erosion Is Big Factor In Loss Of Soil Fertility

OTTAWA, Aug. 18—Experiments conducted at the Dominion Experimental farm here over a four-year period show erosion is probably the greatest single factor causing loss of soil fertility, according to Wm. Dickson, of the field husbandry division.

Experiments showed a large percentage of the available plant food in soil is present in the weathered surface layer and may be permanently lost through removal of that layer of erosion.

The results, according to Dickson, suggest the importance of employing soil-conserving crops such as sod-forming hay, and of soil saving cultural practices, such as across-the-slope tillage wherever danger of erosion exists.

The Gongying Mantis of India resembles a flower so much in color and shape that other insects alighton it and are captured.

BEAVERLODGE, Alta., Aug. 18.—I now have seen all parts of Canada, leaving the Peace River to the last, and now I am glad to have done so for I can compare your wonderful country, said His Excellency, Lord Tweedsmuir, addressing a company of 250 at the Dominion experimental sub station.

Privately he remarked repeatedly how much he had been impressed by the people of the country and asked numerous questions, while being shown around the grounds.

"I could spend a day here," he observed, during a hasty walk through gardens and orchard past hundreds of roses, five-foot banks of sweet peas, through greenhouses, around rockery, past bearing apple trees, crabapples, and plums.

He particularly asked to see the saskatoon hedge, sampled the fruit and pronounced it good.

AT BEAVERLODGE DEPOT

Arriving at Beaverlodge depot, the party was met by W. Sharpe, M.L.A.; His Worship Art Bowtell, W. D. Albright, superintendent of the Dominion experimental farm sub station; Rev. Calland and D'Arcy Gaudin, general merchant. After a short drive they alighted at the experimental sub station, where they were greeted by the Boy Scouts under Scout Master Hubert Sumner, who gave the salute. Next in line were the Boy Cubs. Then the war veterans were presented individually by Capt. Roberts of Wembley. Signing of the visitors' register was followed by a hasty walk through the gardens. Then introductions to a number of old-timers, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bredin, Frank White, Joe Bateman, William Grant.

BAND PLAYS

The Beaverlodge band added eclat to the occasion, playing God Save the King as the party returned to the cars. His Excellency was pleased with the band's performance and asked to shake hands with the bandmaster, Douglas McFarlane. After the party came drawn to the train many of the visitors lingered for an hour or two. Bouquets by Mrs. Albright were presented to Lady Tweedsmuir and Miss Buchan; a rose to His Excellency. The Monkman Pass Highway committee presented His Excellency with a number of photographs.

Churchill Sees France's Major Fortifications

BELFORT, France, Aug. 18 — Winston Churchill, competing an inspection tour of France's Maginot line, said Wednesday that "if war were to break out it would be because we or our allies were the victims of brutal aggression."

Mr. Churchill inspected France's major fortifications along the northeastern frontier at the invitation of the French government. He was accompanied by a group of British and French officers.

"Of my first impressions," the British statesman said after the inspection, "the strongest is that France is protected by a material shield and above all by a shield of men who will assure this region absolute security and defend France against the horrors of invasion."

Aberhart Will Be Defendant In School Case

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 18.—Hon. William Aberhart, minister of education for the province of Alberta, will be made a defendant in the case of James Bailey and others of the West Lethbridge school district against the Lethbridge school division.

The order-in-council giving the plaintiffs the right to sue and making the minister a party to the action was dated Aug. 15 and was received by W. S. Beattie, counsel for the plaintiffs, Thursday.

This is really a test case involving the right of the government to force local school districts into the new large school division.

Veteran Performer At Rodeos Killed In Handling Bronk

LARAMIE, Wyo., Aug. 18.—Mervin A. Bath, 33, who for 12 years rode bucking horses for fun and profit, met death handling a bronco in the work-a-day fashion of the west. A horse he was breaking at his ranch near here inflicted injuries fatal to the veteran rodeo performer. Bath was one of a handful of riders to play with "Five Minutes to Midnight," notorious bucker of the Cheyenne Frontier Days Show, and rode in London in 1924.

Knights of Columbus Seek Christian Crusade To Bring World Peace

SEATTLE, Aug. 18 — Knights of Columbus, called for a Christian crusade for peace Thursday in a resolution designed to counteract the methods of "Godless leaders who have led nations to the brink of another war."

The appeal asked for a settlement of the bickerings of a "troubled world through spiritual guidance."

The resolution was drawn up by John W. Babcock, Michigan state council deputy, and adopted at the concluding session of the fifty-seventh international convention of the Catholic fraternal organization.

It said in part:

"Be it resolved that all nations, all peoples, and all leaders are hereby devoutly implored to turn their souls, their hearts and their minds to the cross of Jesus Christ and therefrom to draw such true appreciation of the brotherhood of all men under the fatherhood of God, as will dissolve the petty differences among nations, between men and social groups of men, and implant in their hearts a determination that peace shall envelop the world."

SEE FASCISM IN DOMINION IN SHORT TIME

Formation of "Axis" Between Ontario and Quebec is Predicted

By LOTHIAN GEORGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont., Aug. 18—Fascism in Canada within a few years, complete even to the formation of an "axis" between Ontario and Quebec and with Ontario obtaining an outlet to the sea through a "corridor," was viewed as a possibility Thursday by a Toronto journalist.

Addressing the eighth annual session of the Canadian Institute of Economics and Politics, B. K. Sandwell, editor of the Toronto Saturday Night, envisioned a "series of regional Fascist regimes and not a national system." These Fascist "states" probably would be under nominal sovereignty of the King.

EARLY STAGES

These early stages of Fascism always are featured by efforts of governments to assume the greatest possible power over the liberty and property of individuals, he said. They preached "government by men rather than laws" and were contemptuous of the institutions.

"I doubt whether the Alberta government cared whether its Social Credit enactments were constitutional or not," he said. "It simply believed that it could be sufficiently pugnacious to put them through. Certainly it was forced to dismiss its attorney general when he advised that some were ultra vires."

RISE OF FASCISM

A step toward Fascism might be taken in the next federal election, Mr. Sandwell suggested. The rise of Fascism in Germany and Italy was preceded by "parasis" in the legislature, due to the presence of many conflicting groups. With a possible decline of old-line party representation and the advent of new "progressive" members from the west, the Dominion parliament might see such a deadlock.

League Withholds Approval British Plan In Palestine

GENEVA, Aug. 18.—The League of Mandates Commission Thursday withheld approval of Great Britain's plan make Palestine an independent Arab-Jewish state.

The commission's report was considered a victory for Zionists at the world Zionist congress here, in its fight for a Jewish national home in the Holy Land.

LONDON, Aug. 18 — Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald disclosed last night he would go before the League of Nations council in Geneva next month to seek approval for the British Palestine plan which the permanent mandates commission Thursday refused to approve.

TOURIST TRAVEL SHOWS JUMP IN NATIONAL PARKS

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—Tourist travel to Canada's national parks is showing a marked increase this year according to figures issued Thursday by the department of mines and resources for the four months ended July 31.

Banff National Park showed an increase of more than 30 per cent in motor travellers in that period, with 81,550 motor visitors in the last four months compared to 69,-202 in the same period a year ago.

Jasper National Park, with 11,480 visitors, showed a gain of 1,440. Kootenay and Yoho National parks also had increases, with 14,006 and 3,376 tourist registrations respectively. A new high of 57,802 visitors was recorded at Waterton Lakes National Park, compared to 42,833 in 1938. Buffalo National Park, Alberta, had 13,202 visitors, an increase of 9,349 visitors.

On the prairies, Riding Mountain National Park set a new record with 75,440 visitors in the period, 3,841 more than last year. Attendance at Prince Albert Park, in Saskatchewan, was maintained.

Mae West All For

Has Tete-a-Tete With Dr. Buchman

Moral Rearmament

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18—Mae West of the stage and screen is all for moral rearmament.

Its philosophy has been a great help to her and she thinks it would be valuable also to her current picture partner, W. C. Fields, she told Dr. Frank Buchman, a leader of the moral rearmament movement.

Miss West and Dr. Buchman had quite a tete-a-tete in her apartment. She was attired in a pink negligee gown and he in summery street clothes.

"It is a wonderful work," Miss West said of the movement. "I owe my success to the fact that I have been practising that philosophy in recent years.

"Early in my career, before I discovered the importance of correct thinking and correct consideration for others, it was a hard and bitter struggle to get ahead."

Dr. Buchman told her:

"You are a splendid character, Miss West, you have done wonderful work too, in pleasing and entertaining millions with your charming personality."

As they posed for photographers together, Dr. Buchman remarked he was somewhat amateur at "this sort of thing." (Meaning the posing.)

But Mae drawled: "You're doing fine, doctor."

Miss West and Fields are to be starred together soon in a Universal picture.

"Have you met Bill Fields yet?" she asked Dr. Buchman.

"No, but I'd love to meet him."

"This moral rearmament is just what Bill needs," Mae exclaimed, "by all means meet Bill and tell him all about moral rearmament. And please get to him before we start this picture. I want him to be full of it."

Child Actors To Be Placed Under Control Of State

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Jurisdiction over Shirley Temple, Freddie Bartholomew and other juvenile motion picture stars as well as hundreds of children employed as screen extras, is being assumed by the state labor commissioner.

H. C. Carrasco, labor commissioner, said that, effective Aug. 21, the consent of his department must be obtained before minors may be employed in production of a motion picture. The commissioner said he must be satisfied regarding the child's school record, attendance and health.

Rochelle Hudson Is Wed To Writer At Disney Studio

ENSENADA, Calif., Aug. 18 — Janet Gaynor's stand-in in a film role, like Miss Gaynor herself, is honey-mooning in Mexico.

Rochelle Hudson, who stepped into her first big part when Miss Gaynor withdrew from "Way Down East" and who advanced quickly to stardom after several pictures with Will Rogers, was married late Tuesday to Hal Thompson of Hollywood, a writer at Walt Disney studios.

Like Miss Gaynor and clothing designer Gilbert Adrian, who were married at Yuma, Ariz., Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were "somewhere in Mexico" today.

Broadcasting Companies Of Britain, Canada Plan Further Co-operation

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—A "new co-operation" between the Canadian and British broadcasting corporations was announced by Major W. E. Gladstone Murray, general manager of the CBC, on his arrival here Thursday from London.

As a result of the "very favorable publicity" Canada received in the United Kingdom through the Royal Visit, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will send an increasing number of radio programs "of a national character" to British wireless listeners, Major Murray said.

BBC TO RECIPROCATE

Major Murray, who arrived aboard Pan America's Dixie clipper from an extended visit in Great Britain where he conferred with British Broadcasting Company officials, said the BBC will reciprocate with a series of programs specially designed for Canadian interest. These programs of various character, will start in September.

"This marks the beginning of a new co-operation between Canadian and British broadcasting systems," said Major Murray.

"Since the King and Queen toured the Dominion a new interest in the life, people and panorama of Canada has been awakened in the United Kingdom. We intend to meet this interest with programs dramatizing the life and people of Canada."

HELPS AMATEUR TALENT

The new plan eventually will require construction in Canada of a high-powered short wave station but for a beginning present transmission facilities will be adequate, Major Murray said.

Recruiting talent for new programs will eventually open new opportunity for Canadian entertainers but for a start the CBC will export its established programs, he said.

The major also had a word of cheer for votaries of the Little Theatre movement in Canada, announcing plans were ready under way for dramatic programs for good amateur acting units.

Vancouver Woman Faces Attempted Murder Charge

VANCOUVER, Aug. 18—Warrants charging attempted murder and attempted suicide were sworn out Thursday against Mrs. Helen Phillips, the mother who didn't want to come back to life.

Mrs. Phillips and her 24-year-old daughter Helen are in Vancouver general hospital almost fully recovered from near-asphyxiation suffered Wednesday.

The two were found unconscious on the kitchen floor of the home of Mrs. Phillips' sister, gas pouring from two open jets.

"Why did you bring me back?" were the woman's first words as she was resuscitated.

Police state the mother, a widow for 18 years, told them she wished to die because of the helpless condition of her daughter, an invalid since childhood.

Mother and daughter came to Vancouver recently from Newton, 15 miles south of here.

ROPER QUITS POST AS ENVOY TO DOMINION

ABOARD U.S.S. LANG, Bay of Islands, Nfld., Aug. 18—Daniel C. Roper, first foreign envoy to Canada to present his credentials directly to the King in the Dominion capital, has resigned his post.

President Roosevelt, who appointed the former secretary of commerce as minister to Canada last spring, announced he had accepted the resignation before he left Hyde Park for his holiday cruise of Atlantic waters.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had sent Mr. Roper a letter of regret and thanked him for his willingness to take the post temporarily during the visit to Canada of King George and Queen Elizabeth.

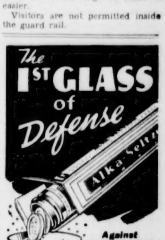

Man Clawed By Kadiak Bear At Riverdale Zoo

TORONTO, Aug. 18—Edward Bloome had his right hand clawed and almost torn off while feeding a big Kadiak (Russian) bear at Riverdale zoo here Thursday. Physicians said they may not amputate the hand.

Bloome's cries brought attendants and he was found beside the bears cage, blood streaming from his hand. Bloome was feeding the animals through the bars, according to attendants, and they believed he must have climbed a four-foot fence in front of the cage to make it easier.

Visitors are not permitted inside the guard rail.

Raising the Ante

And now it is the Polish Corridor that Germany wants. First Danzig, then the Corridor, and finally Poland. The grim sequence has begun.

Why did Germany suddenly begin a violent press campaign at the very moment the Danzig question still hung fire? On a surface examination, it would seem the Reich was making a blunder of the first magnitude. Those more familiar with its tactics, however, must admire the skill of its latest master-stroke, even though they oppose the ends to which it is directed.

Germany demands the return of the Polish Corridor and incorporation of it within the Reich to show that she has other vexatious problems still pending settlement with Poland besides the unresolved Danzig question. By a general attack upon Poland's, so-called terrorism over Germans in the Corridor, the merits of the original Danzig dispute will be obscured and forgotten in the larger controversy that will be set raging.

Then Germany will suddenly win a reputation for conciliation. She will call off the agitation for the return of the Corridor on condition that she has her way in Danzig. A victory in the free city will not mean the larger objectives of the Reich in Poland have been forgotten. They would simply have been postponed.

In June, a meeting of the Congress of Germans Resident Abroad was held in Germany. Usually that meeting does not take place till the eve of the annual Nazi congress in September. Its early date this year, the prominence given to its deliberations in the German press, show that a definite move will be staged to recover the "lost territories," if at all possible. The latest agitation for the Corridor is one of Germany's trump cards to make that adventure a successful possibility.

Baldwin's Brave Words

One of the last speeches Earl Baldwin made as Prime Minister of Britain was before a large youth rally in London which he charged with the sacred task of standing on guard for the preservation of freedom. Many people then said the speech struck too solemn a note and hinted that Baldwin was wrong in suggesting that the old battles for liberty might have to be fought over again.

We now know he spoke with the vision of a prophet rather than with the stilted emphasis of a politician. The struggle he foresaw years ago has truly come upon us, and those who are blind to its issues have already become the allies of despotism. In New York on Wednesday he repeated that message with the clarion eloquence of which he is so accomplished a master.

Baldwin defined the issue correctly when he said the fate of freedom in the modern world will be decided not by the acts of governments but by the ideals to which citizens in their daily lives are devoted.

In Germany, Italy and Japan, the individual is throttled. His obedience to the state, automatic and unquestioned, is the axiom upon which the grim tyranny of Fascism has been erected. What Baldwin asked for is the voluntary obedience of free citizens to their country on a scale and with a heroic devotion that will dwarf and confound the forced loyalties of regimented peoples. Burke said that liberty is the precious commodity of which England has the monopoly of price. Today it can be preserved only at the cost of eternal vigilance.

Baldwin was wrong, however, when he modestly told America he was "speaking only for himself". His message found an echo in every mind dedicated to the spirit of freedom and consecrated to the task of seeing liberty does not perish from the earth.

Tut, Tut, Dr. Lerner!

As a former editor of the New York Nation, Dr. Max Lerner has a wide reputation as a crusader for civil liberties, and it was expected he would put up a strong defence of democracy in his addresses to the Canadian Institute on Economics and Politics now meeting in Ontario. But his zeal outran his discretion when he suggested certain pressure groups in the United States might be able, not only to defeat any New Deal candidate, but to make the country go Fascist.

Fascism is an ugly word. It stands for ugly things. It should not be used loosely by a man whose mind has been trained to an exquisite precision.

Surely Dr. Lerner did not mean that the defeat of the ideas for which Mr. Roosevelt struggles would result in the overthrow of representative government, the betrayal of free speech and assembly, and the deliberate shackling of the individual by a state organization based upon ruthless force. He surely could not have suggested America was going to copy the Italian and German models.

Of course he didn't mean anything like that at all. All he wanted to say was that a victory for anti-reform forces in the United States would result in a calculated postponement of liberal policies in favor of a do-nothing program. Thus stated, Dr. Lerner would have uttered nothing but a truism. It still is a truism when he starts thinking at the top of his voice and says America is going Fascist if it halts its reforms.

In fact, however, even such an extreme statement is without much foundation in fact. The supreme achievement of the New Deal is that it has made America realize it must have greater social security. Certain reforms have already been woven into the texture of American life that can never by uprooted, no matter how reactionary the government, as public opinion would not tolerate such a turning back of the tide.

The good that President Roosevelt has done will live after him, and is a greater barrier to Fascism than even Dr. Lerner's eloquent but slightly emotional speeches to Canadian audiences.

Britain Battles Taboos

The trouble Britain has in raising the standard of living in its colonial empire is well brought out in a recent report of a special committee on nutrition which studied this subject.

In many districts, superstitious natives outlaw the use of milk because it conflicts with their tribal taboos, or is regarded as a "dirty food". Some tribes are taught to regard milk as a prolific cause of children's ailments. Eggs are banned in Tanganyika, while chicken and mutton fall under the same rigorous censure in other parts of the African colonial territories.

No wonder, then, the British committee reports that the problem of malnutrition is gigantic. With the best will in the world, it has been found literally impossible to break down these taboos so that the natives might begin to get their proper nourishment.

Some commentators have made the text of the report the theme for abuse of British administration in backward areas. Let them not forget that even the ammunition for their attack is furnished by a report provided by the much-maligned English authorities. Britain has nothing to conceal, nothing of which to be ashamed. She is making the best of a staggeringly hard task before which most other nations would have recoiled in despair and open defeat.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

With wasp-waists and bustles shown in the advance style shows for women, fashions in dress have completed a circle and are now on their way back to the styles in vogue in the "gay nineties." Ladies at the beach may continue to wear swimming tights, instead of going down to the sea as their grandmothers did in Victoria's day, looking like a ship under full sail. When they are on parade they will look, as one style reporter describes it, "like cigarettes swaying along," some perhaps like gay members of the Vespidae, and others like a circus dromedary that has been in a train wreck.

WARNING TO FASHION-MAKERS

Man's attire in summer is still far from apt, but thank the gods of fashion there is no move to dress men after the fashion of their forefathers in the gay nineties.

Then, the well-dressed man who strolled the summer promenade wore a tight coat, an ornamental vest, a starched collar and a cravat. Slowly men are emancipating themselves. They discard vests, they wear open-necked shirts. Some of the braver men even doff their coats at business.

What women wear makes little difference so long as they look beautiful. They have a faith that can endure torture for fashion's sake. But let no designer of men's togs try to move men a step further back. If change there must be, let them make shorts fashionable for wear in the months of July and August.

Humorists who puncture foolishness with shafts of ridicule often achieve reform. Mr. A. P. Herbert, M.P. for Oxford University, author and member of the staff of "Punch," deplores the fashion of public officials who write reports and issue orders in a pseudo-scientific English of their own. They never use one word where two big ones might better confuse the reader. In the English railroad diners patrons are informed on the menu cards that "supplementary servings are furnished without extra charge." You'd think they were trying to conceal the fact that second helpings are free.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Twenty-five years ago today the special war session of the dominion parliament was opened by the Duke of Connaught. Sir Robert Borden, in his memoirs, states that it was "a very businesslike opening. The duke and his staff were in khaki." The speech from the throne forecast an appropriation of $50,000,000 "for the defence and security of Canada, the conduct of military operations in or beyond Canada, promoting the continuance of trade, industry and business communication, and the carrying out of any measures deemed necessary by the government"—the War Measures Act, which continued all acts and things done after the outbreak of war and prior to the passing of the act; the Finance Act, which made legal that which the cabinet had done early in August, and which Sir Robert admitted was "entirely illegal" at the time, including the financial provision which averted the hoarding of gold and averted runs upon the banks, as well as three other acts dealing with customs, excise and special war revenues.

The gravity of the situation was admitted by all, but both leaders were having internal troubles, Sir Robert had been told by the governor-general that Colonel Sam Hughes "had spoken to him disrespectfully" and the prime minister had to call his minister of militia into his office and warn him not to "repeat the offence." On the other side, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was having trouble with some of his followers from Quebec and he had to hold a party caucus before the speech from the throne was considerd the next day. Then Sir Wilfrid made one of the most memorable speeches of his career, one that will live in Canadian history.

Current Comment

Broadening Base of Party Support

In the Hatch bill, which just has become law in the United States, there is an effort to deal with aspects of the patronage evil in the federal sphere, an effort that President Roosevelt terms "a step in the right direction."

The bill has two objectives—first to prevent federal employees from being "blackjacked" out of part of their pay by forced campaign and party fund assessments, and, second, to prevent national party conventions from being "stacked" with federal office-holder delegates who are under obligation to the existing regime.

Like many a solution, however, this one raises a new problem in its stead. There seems no way to carry on a democracy without political parties. Political parties demand organization and organization calls for money. The question in the United States is, where is the money to come from now?

State party organizations and office-holders are not affected by this federal act. It is considered not impossible that the next party conventions will be as heavily weighted with state office-holders as those of the past have been with federal. Unless and until states of the American union pass similar legislation, it is felt that this is bound to be true. In the second place, since federal office-holders may no longer be "tapped" more or less at will for party funds, both main American parties—Democratic and Republican—when in power will be faced with the problem of how to raise them. Voluntary contributions may still, of course, be made, and it is possible that most federal job-holders long educated in the knowledge of which side of the bread is thickest spread with butter, will continue to contribute to party funds on a genuinely voluntary basis. The alternative might be to go back to the system of large lump-sum contributions just before elections from those who have it to give—the "big shots," in other words.

Efforts have been made in the United States in the past to devise plans for broadening the base of party support, and both major parties might welcome means of securing regular, even though very small contributions from rank-and-file members. The study of ways to broaden as far as possible the supporting base of all major political parties in all democratic countries may be worth the attention of all of them. Widespread voluntary support not only just before elections, but all the year round, would seem the democratic way to maintain a party system.—Regina Leader-Post.

Roosevelt and the Senators

When the conference between the Foreign Relations Committee and President Roosevelt took place at the White House following the suspension of the Neutrality bill the President said, according to press reports, that the action of the Senate would increase the chances of war in Europe. It is very confident Senator Borah replied that he had his own sources of information in Europe and that its effect would be precisely the opposite of that stated by Mr. Roosevelt.

The President has now put the issue between him and the Senators who think themselves better informed than the Administration about conditions in Europe squarely before the American people. At a press conference last week he said the Senators were betting their own hunches against the safety of a billion and a half human beings. This bet, the President, according to the New York Times, "went on to say, left him without power to make an American move to prevent international war if the crisis came before Congress returned in January. He had made such moves before, he recalled, in September, 1938, and April of this year, but now could not do so. This, he said, was a situation affecting a billion and a half persons throughout the world."

This is a responsibility that apparently is not resting lightly on the shoulders of some of the recalcitrant senators; at least two of them have been explaining to the public that all they did was to postpone action until January; and that in any case the President could call Congress together if war occurred—that is if events proved that the President of the United States and the Secretary of State really did know more about international affairs than a bunch of senators intent upon playing domestic politics. It is not probable, however, that any such qualms of doubt will afflict Senators Borah and Johnson, the quavers in the Senate of the "Battalion of Death" who were responsible for the rejection of the Peace Treaty 20 years ago. If the contemplation of the consequences which have flowed directly from their course at that time has left them cynical and indifferent it is not likely that they will lose any sleep over the possibility that their present course will make a contribution towards bringing about a second world war.—Winnipeg Free Press.

SHEPHERD ABOARD SHIP

Of all the men that I have seen, all over the world, only one suggests to me the physical likeness of Jesus. He was an Arab shepherd, aboard a small Mediterranean ship, the decks of which were overcrowded with passengers and sheep.

Quarrels were frequent amongst the passengers; but this shepherd, his black eyes shining in kindliness above his bearded face, would move amidst them, never losing his smile, and by quiet, gentle words compose their differences. In like manner he would comfort the sheep, when they grew affrighted by the ship's motion. He was the ship's peacemaker.

Even as Jesus walked amidst His time, a figure of friendliness and peace. How the world needs Him today!

Move amidst the troubled lives of our time, O great shepherd of souls, and bring us peace—Thine own perfect peace. Amen.

The Wrong Thing

Editor, Bulletin: There is a point to which I should very much like to draw your attention, as I know that your paper tries to serve the public to the best of its ability, and many homes are happy because of your timely assistance.

There is a game that employers play today with us of the job hunting brigade. They tell us to come again when they know that there is nothing to be had; why could they not be honest with us and say that there is nothing at the moment, and there will not be for some time. Then the intervals of waiting could be filled with some kind of profitable amusement, and we should be saved the heart-break of wandering around getting our limited wardrobes wet and out of shape, to say nothing of our tempers being ruffled, and our health endangered!

Perhaps I am the only one who thinks that is not the right thing to do, but I think employers should think a little and remember that even if we look half-way decent, we are nearly all on our last legs, and unless something is done soon, there will be an enormous hospital bill for this province to meet next year!

All-Inclusive Convention

Editor Bulletin: Will you be kind enough to give space in your paper for the following statement.

Since the emergence of the New Democracy movement it has been public knowledge that the Communist party is very much in agreement with the movement based on the proposals advanced by the Hon. W. D. Herridge. We in Alberta greeted the stand of the Social Credit movement in swinging into the support of New Democracy with enthusiasm, but at that time we warned against any narrow party domination of the new movement on the part of the Social Credit league, since we saw in New Democracy the possibility of bringing about a coalition of all progressive groups to defeat reaction in the coming federal elections. It has now become evident that the Social Credit League has purely party interests in the New Democracy movement, if we are to go by the Social Credit nominating convention—held at Irricana recently. Here the Social Credit League disregarded the desires of other groups and proceeded to nominate their own candidate. The convention nominated three candidates on the basis of the Social Credit League constitution and decided that the final choice should run on a New Democracy ticket. While we are in sympathy with the New Democracy movement and are earnestly working for a single progressive candidate with the united backing of all progressives, we wish to disassociate our party from any so-called New Democracy candidate elected at the above mentioned convention. We strongly criticise this action as being against the interests of democratic co-operation, and as being in contradiction to the principles advanced by the New Democracy movement which calls for the united action of all progressives to elect a single candidate. We wish to make it clear to the Social Credit people that we are not pledged to support their Social Credit candidate running on a New Democracy ticket, because he is not a candidate of the united progressives. Since this individual action of the Social Credit League encourages other groups to nominate separately, we now propose that all candidates so nominated by each group should submit themselves to an all inclusive nominating convention where the final choice will be made. We pledge support to the candidate finally selected in such a way, and will work in co-operation with all other progressive groups to ensure a victory.

JOHN DIGMAN.
Drumheller Constituency Secretary of the Communist Party.

DRUMHELLER

Strike In Sight For Drumheller Mines

Agitation against the Social Credit version of the Coal Mines Regulation Act may lead to a protest strike throughout district 18 of the United Mine Workers of America if a resolution sent to the district office of the union gets sympathetic attention. Mine workers in the Drumheller valley have proposed a three day layoff as the only effective way to bring to the attention of the provincial government that the new mines act is objectionable to the men.

The bone of contention is contained in the clause which provides for A. and B. certificates, mine workers declare that this clause makes possible the displacement of experienced miners at the coal face and substitutes inexperienced men. The clause dealing with checkweighmen is also under fire.

CHANGES MADE ON SCHOOL STAFF

Appointments to the teaching staffs of the public schools and the high school were made at this week's meeting of the Red Deer public school board. Dr. J. B. Long, chairman, presided with Trustees A. R. Little, A. M. Filmer and H. E. Bawthinimer and Secretary S. Pamely present.

Seventy-two applications were considered for the vacancy at the South school and Miss Lillian Museus, who has been teaching at the Provincial Training school, Red Deer, was hired.

FORT SMITH, N.W.T.

His Honor Judge Lucien Dubuc arrived in the north today. He was quite surprised at the growth of the settlement, and made a great future for the north.

He spent sometime renewing old acquaintances with some of the local fathers and sisters at the Roman Catholic Missions, whom he knew in the days when he traveled throughout the Arctic dispensing justice among the Eskimos and Indians. He paid a visit to Hay River and was surprised to see the modern machinery and buildings that M. L. Ryan has invested in at that point. He plans to return to the city shortly.

DAYSLAND

Crop testing plan held near Dayslland early this week was attended by more than 60 farmers and business men from Dayslland, Bawlf, Strome, Killam, Lougheed and Sedgewick. Seed plot was a 100 per cent district plot and contained more than 300 samples. Plot was in charge of J. F. McCoffrey, Searle Grain Co. agent.

Cerealists in attendance were George DeLong, of the Lacombe Experimental farm, and A. T. Sinclair, CTP-Winnipeg. Mayor Wm. addressed the gathering. Speakers were introduced by J. J. Dietrich, superintendent of the Searle Grain Co., Ltd., Edmonton.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

A forestry training camp, under the Dominion - Provincial Youth Training Plan has been established in the Clearwater Forest Reserve on the Blackstone river, about 75 miles west of here, in the mountains. About twenty boys are in the camp, with three from Rocky Mountain House, Donald Allen, Huston Hereford and Joseph Barnes. EDSON

Under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, Baddeley Brothers' three-ring wild animal circus played a two-day stand at the school grounds, Edson, Monday and Tuesday, and drew crowds to make the venture successful. The entertainment was enjoyed by adults and children alike, and midway attractions and stands drew good patronage.

BREMNER

The first threshing was done in this district recently on the farm of Mr. John Reynolds. The field, about 25 acres of barley, did not yield very well, owing to the dry weather. Mr. Reynolds also threshed 80 acres of barley on his farm near Elk Island Park, which averaged much better.

The railroads of the United States operate nearly 50,000 trucks constantly.

Violet Pike Is Bride of Mr. Thomas Cane

EDMONTON Pentecostal church was the scene of a charming wedding on Thursday evening at seven-thirty o'clock, when Violet Irene, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pike, of Edmonton, exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Thomas Edward Cane, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Cane, of Flin Flon, Manitoba.

EXQUISITE WEDDING GOWN

Gowned exquisitely in white mousseline de soie, with veil that fell gracefully about her shoulders to the hem of her frock, and carrying a copy of the Holy Bible on which was placed a fragrant corsage of roses and ribbon streamers the bride was a pretty figure at her wedding. Her accessories were white, her hand-crocheted gloves coming from Damascus, Syria.

Sister of the bride, Miss Dorothy Pike, who was bridesmaid, was attired in a toe-length gown in peach taffeta trimmed with touches of mauve and green. She carried gladioli in peach and mauve tones.

Mr. Henry Plaston supported the bridegroom as best man.

Miss Ruth Pike was flower girl at her sister's wedding, wearing a blue taffeta gown with pink trimming. She carried a basket of garden flowers.

Mrs. John Pike, mother of the bride, chose a street length alpaca dress in rose beige, with a wide-brimmed egghell straw hat. Her corsage was of roses.

Miss Kathleen Pike played the wedding marches, and Mrs. Willis McPherson sang during the signing of the register. Her song was "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

100 GUESTS AT RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, performed by Rev. Willis McPherson, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where about a hundred guests were received. Sweet peas, and pink and white streamers graced the reception room for the occasion.

During the reception, Mr. Macrae Pollock sang "Because".

The bridal couple left later for Banff. For her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a rose-knitted suit, with a becoming white turban and white accessories.

They will reside in Asquith, Saskatchewan, where the bridegroom is minister of the Pentecostal church.

For Evening

And for evening: Alternating bands of snowy white ermine and luxurious silver fox make this perfectly stunning evening wrap with train effect at the back and short puffed sleeves.

For Daytime

For daytime wear this kid-skin coat is chic and very practical. It may, however, be worn in three ways. There are cleverly concealed slide fasteners, one at the neckline, the other at the waistline. In this way, one time it may be worn as a jacket without the skirt, at another as a cape, the skirt only being utilized for this purpose, and the belt forming the tie around the shoulders. For snowy days and for milder afternoons, this is a bright spot in any wardrobe.

Survey Reveals Many Women Are Sole Family Supporters

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Thousands of American women—single and married—furnish the sole support of their families. Surveys made by United States government groups indicate great numbers of women do the family breadwinning, either alone or with the help of another woman, often while continuing their jobs as home-makers.

Women's bureau experts, studying 58,000 working women in Fort Wayne, Ind., Bridgeport, Conn., and Richmond, Va., found 43,000 of them living with their families. Of these, they reported today, nearly 10 per cent were the sole support of the family. Twenty per cent were in families supported by women and with no men wage earners.

A recent report of family income in Chicago by the United States Bureau of Labor statistics listed women as the principal wage-earner in 14 per cent of the native white families and 18 per cent of the negro families studied in a 10 per cent sample of the city's families. Of 25,000 native white "complete families" (containing both husband and wife), 1,100 had a woman as the principal wage-earner.

Mrs. Albert J. Darkes, and her two daughters, Noreen and Jacqueline, who have spent the summer in the city, visiting Mrs. Darkes' mother, Mrs. Peter McSporran, are leaving early in the coming week for their home in Winnipeg.

Hitch-Hiker To Pacific Coast Is On Return Trip To Ottawa

SASKATOON, Aug. 18—From Ottawa to Vancouver on $1.50 is pretty cheap travelling. Madeline Leury, Ottawa high school girl who arrived in Saskatoon Thursday night, claimed to have hitch-hiked from Canada's capital to the Pacific coast on that amount of money. She's on her way home now, and since leaving Vancouver, hasn't spent a cent.

"How do you do it?" asked a reporter who interviewed Miss Leury here. "Oh, just wiggle my thumb," was the reply. She explained motorists were generally suspicious of male hitch-hikers, but appeared happy to be of assistance to women.

COLLECTOR OF AUTOGRAPHS

Miss Leury collects autographs, and she displayed an album containing the signatures of many notables, including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Since leaving Ottawa, the signatures of the Duke of Windsor and David Lloyd George, have arrived at her home, she said.

"Oh, yes, I intend to write a book about hitch-hiking across Canada," she continued. The girl said she had made the trip from Ottawa to Vancouver in 16 days. She only had to sleep outdoors two nights. The rest of the time, farmers and townsfolk along the way provided her with sleeping accommodation and meals.

WESTERN HOSPITALITY

"I found the people of Western Canada much more friendly than those down east," Miss Leury said. It was her first trip to the West, and she expressed pleasure with the things she saw.

"I expect to get to Ottawa within a week, and get ready for another term at school," she said.

How to Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the cause of the trouble at your peril. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, in nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Mac-rick Drug Stores—or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is applied internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and a highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

LLOYDMINSTER, Aug. 18—Claiming the interest of a host of friends in the Lloydminster district, where both the bride and bridegroom are well known is the pretty morning wedding solemnized in St. Patrick's church, Streamstown, recently when Olive Matilda Duguid, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Duguid, exchanged vows of marriage with Wallace Arthur Hardstaff, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Rev. L. Freeman officiated at the ceremony, and the wedding marches were played by Miss L. Bowers. Raising A Family

Dear Mrs. Doubt:

It's too bad you feel that way about vaccination. But I don't see what else you can do, if your state school laws say that no child can enter school without it.

O. R. Barton

I know that many parents object conscientiously to any kind of inoculation against disease. And there are organized groups which publish much convincing literature against it. They are mostly, or altogether, laymen, not members of the medical profession.

The argument is offered that vaccination and serum inoculations of all kinds are merely a racket to put money into the hands of laboratories, drug stores and doctors.

That, I think, we must discount at once, because once epidemics got a start, the big profit would come from the medicines sold to relieve them. Actually, keeping down such things is a losing game for the commercial dealers and doctors.

If we were to put a stop to vaccination, and a few cases came across our borders, in a month a hundred cases would be fighting for life. And it would spread, as it used to, like a prairie fire.

I don't like the idea, either, of introducing "filth," as you call it, into the pure blood stream of a little boy or girl. But that filth gets in its dirty work only in one spot. And that's better than a whole body, and perhaps the loss of life.

Formerly there were numerous tragedies in connection with vaccination. But, nowadays, laboratories turn out pretty pure stuff.

VACCINES HAVE SAVED LIVES

As for diphtheria preventive, and whooping cough shots and all the rest, they are optional with the parent.

I am not urging you to try them, but I wish I had had the chance to use every one of them before my children had contact with the killers. I would have lost no child without diphtheria anti-toxin. And I myself would most certainly not be writing this now, if diphtheria anti-toxin had not saved my life.

Yours Sincerely,
OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON.

CHILLED FRUIT DESSERTS

Heavy desserts are out as far as most summer appetites are concerned and, as fresh fruits are at their very best and are least expensive in midsummer, it's pretty smart to use them just as much as possible. Pile the fruit attractively—red and purple, plums, nectarines, golden pears, black cherries, white grapes—in a shallow fruit dish and chill in the refrigerator before serving. Here's a dessert that induces leisurely conversation.

Bride's Relish Sure to Delight Mother-in-Law

The dream of all thrifty housewives—line after line of glass jars filled with jams and jellies and relishes made from the rich fruits and vegetables from their own or nearby gardens.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Quick relishes can save the situation for the bride. When the family comes to dinner, the new housewife who forgot about the canning season can surprise her mother-in-law with those unusual quick relishes and no one will know the difference.

QUICK APPLE PEPPER RELISH
(10 or 12 servings)

One small can pimiento, ½ green pepper, 2 large sweet onions, 3 cooking apples, ½ lemon, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ½ teaspoon nutmeg.

Cut pimientoes and pepper in fine strips. Slice thinly onions, apples, and lemon. Add lemon juice and heat to boiling in a 1½-quart saucepan. Add sugar, celery salt, and nutmeg; boil gently for 20 minutes. Serve as a meat relish.

SPICY BANANAS
(8 to 10 servings)

Three-quarter cup vinegar, 30 whole cloves, 2½ cups sugar, 1 small stick cinnamon, 6 bananas.

Place vinegar, cloves, sugar and cinnamon broken in pieces into a 1½-quart heat resistant glass top of stove dish. Boil about 10 minutes or until thick. Cut bananas in half crosswise and slice in half lengthwise; add to hot syrup and simmer about 1 minute.

This fruit relish makes a delicious accompaniment to sliced lamb or veal.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Cantaloupe, minced ham omelet, toast, marmalade, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Fried tomatoes, crisp bacon, hard rolls, applesauce, tea, milk.

Dinner: Iced grapefruit with mint, pork chops, quick apple pepper relish, mashed potatoes, carrots and peas, deep dish plum pie, whipped cream, coffee, milk.

There is little ground for the popular belief that lightning never strikes a beech tree. There is at least one record of men being killed under a beech tree—six of them. The tree itself bore little evidence of the stroke, and, had not the men been killed under it, the tree would likely never have been believed struck. There is no tree known which can be definitely said to be protected against lightning, although dozens of different trees are believed immune to it by various peoples and communities. Oaks and poplars seem to get struck most often. It is not safe to hide under any tree in an electrical storm.

Dorothy Dix Says:

The old adage that when we lend money to a friend we lose them both is never so true as when the borrower is a man and a woman the lender. Somehow men seem able to forgive women for everything else easier than for giving them financial assistance, and it is only the rare man who repays the woman who has helped him in his hour of need with gratitude as well as money.

Most men cannot stand anything that touches their vanity. Although they may not have been too proud to ask for help, nor too proud to take it, the humiliation of receiving aid from a woman kills every particle of affection they have had for her.

No doubt this attitude of men toward women and money stems back to the time when man was the purse-bearer and woman the humble receiver of his largesse, but the feeling still persists. You cannot reverse the situation and make woman the giver and man the receiver without filling the relationship between them with bitterness instead of tenderness. Even in marriage it is fatal for the wife to be the giver. A rich man may marry a poor girl and lavish his wealth upon her, and all is well. She accepts the beautiful homes, the fine clothes, the luxurious car, the jewels and the ease he gives her in the spirit in which they are offered, as expressions of his affection, and she is happy and contented.

But the poor man who marries a rich girl is nearly always one of the most miserable men alive. He resents his wife holding the pocketbook, and only too often he is a surly dog that snaps at the hand that feeds him on polo ponies and yachts and things.

The same thing happens to wives who support their husbands by their own labor. We all know women who work their fingers to the bones to take care of husbands who spend their days idling around poolrooms or discussing politics in their clubs. We know women who toil like slaves in offices and factories to support loafing husbands, but we do not know a single one of these men who treats his wife with even common politeness.

This problem of the girl, the man and the money has become an acute one now when so many young women who are earning good salaries and have a little nest egg tucked away in the bank are in love with men who are out of work, out of funds, and who need money to finish their educations, or to go into some little business of their own.

The impulse of the woman in love is always to give, to help the man she expects to marry. So she digs into her little pile and cuts down on her own living expenses to help John through college, or to give him living money while he is out of a job, and she is thinking how his appreciation of her generosity will bind him to her with hoops of steel.

But it doesn't. It breaks the tie between them. And in the great majority of cases the girl loses her money and her boy friend, too. The knowledge that he was financially indebted to her destroyed the charm she had for him.

Perhaps it is just one of those things. Something for which no one is to blame, but as a proof of how it works out consider this letter:

"I am a young man 25 years old. Just about the time of my graduation from high school I met a woman who was eight years my senior. She is very attractive and has an excellent position with a large company. We fell in love with each other. I was poor and ambitious and wanted to go to college and I borrowed the money from her to do it on. She has always been more than generous toward me and from time to time she has given me numerous expensive gifts. She also took care of all the expenses on our dates together.

"Now I have a fine job myself and have been going out with girls nearer my own age, and my dates with this older girl are horesome and always end up with a squabble. I see her side of the question and understand her feelings of hurt and resentment, but I know that I can never marry her and wish that I never had to see her again. She continues to annoy me until it has become almost unbearable. I realize what a rat I have been, but marrying the girl won't make it right. How can I shake her?"

There you are. He is right in saying that marrying the girl won't make matters right. Nothing can. And if there is any moral to the story, it is that if a girl wishes to keep her boy friend she had better keep a tight grip on her handbag.

DOROTHY DIX.

Closing Scalp Pores Stops Hair Oiliness

By ALICIA HART

The fact that she does not stick to a specific routine for any reasonable length of time is the reason the oily-haired woman just never seems to be able to eliminate the bothersome condition.

"Excessive oil generally means that the scalp is not perfectly healthy," says one of Fifth Avenue's best experts on hair ailments of all types. "To check the flow of oil and restore the scalp to normal, we believe in use of a special tonic that helps to close the relaxed pores of the scalp and in brushing to stimulate circulation."

The authority went on to give directions for proper home treatment to cure an oily condition. Here they are:

At night, after brushing for a minute or two, part hair in sections, dip a small cotton pad in special tonic and lightly moisten the scalp with it. Remember that the tonic is to be applied on scalp —not on ends of the hair. Work every inch of the scalp is moist, put your elbows on a low table, rest your head in your hands and massage scalp for two minutes. Use rotary motions, moving scalp—not fingertips.

REWARD WILL BE WORTH EFFORT

Now take a coarse towel and wipe away whatever moisture is left. Get scalp as dry as possible with the towel, then brush again for two minutes, using upward and outward strokes, of course. Afterward, push waves back into place and wear a hairnet while you sleep.

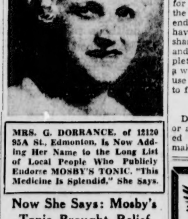

Repeat this treatment every night for one week and every other night the second and third weeks. At the end of the third week, you may have a regular soap and water shampoo. During the fourth week, and from then on, repeat the complete treatment at least two nights a week and, on the other five nights, use your hairbrush for from three to five minutes before going to bed.

MAIN SALAD DISH

Diced corn beef, cold cooked ham or any other spiced cold meat, added to potato or vegetable salad, makes a zestful main salad dish.

Mrs. G. Dorrance, of 12120 95A Street, Edmonton, is still another widely-known local resident who is publicly praising and endorsing MOSBY'S TONIC, which is a New, Scientific Mixture of Nature's Roots and Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents, now being introduced to crowds daily in this city at The Army and Navy Dept. Store. By a Special Mosby's Tonic Representative, known as the MOSBY TONIC Man. Mrs. Dorrance has lived here for 20 years and has friends throughout Edmonton and vicinity. Read her Grateful Public endorsement of Mosby's Tonic, which follows:

Gas Swelling Made Her Feel Choked Up!

"For a long time I had been suffering with a sour, gassy stomach condition," said Mrs. Dorrance. "After my meals my stomach would swell and expand with gas until I felt choked and short of breath and the gas pains that came in my stomach along with this gassy bloating were almost more than I could stand. Sometimes I would feel a burning sensation all the way from the pit of my stomach clear up into my throat. I was so nervous with all of this suffering that I couldn't sleep right, but just tossed and rolled about the bed. I guess my system was full of impurities, for I had lost considerable weight and also had all kinds of neuritic pains in my knee

Now She Says: Mosby's Tonic Brought Relief

"Recently I started taking Mosby's Tonic, and I've had such splendid relief from this medicine that I want to give you my statement and publicly endorse it to others who suffer like I did. The way this medicine acted was a joyful surprise to me. It cleared so much of that gas and acidy sourness out of my stomach that the bloating has gone entirely, and now I can eat my meals and enjoy them once again. And even my nerves have quieted so that I can go to bed and really sleep and not toss and roll most of the night with nervousness like I did. This medicine also cleared impurities from my system and I don't have those neuritic pains in my knee like I had before. I have GAINED 14 POUNDS since I took Mosby's Tonic, and I am so grateful after what it did for me that I gladly give my statement to publish and hope what I say will help many others."

It Helps to Clear Away The Poisonous Wastes

MOSBY'S TONIC helps to clear away poisonous wastes from the system in several ways at once—that is, it acts as a carminative, laxative, diuretic and diuretic all at the same time and helps cleanse bowels, assists to flush excess impurities from kidneys, brings forth gas and bloat from stomach and stimulates the flow of liver bile. Many people write us they soon feel like different men and women as a result of this cleaning and invigorating action of Mosby's Tonic. Another thing —due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Mosby's Tonic is reasonable. So, don't hesitate. Get Mosby's Tonic—TODAY!

A Special Mosby's Tonic Representative, known as The MOSBY TONIC Man is now at the ARMY AND NAVY DEPT. STORE, Edmonton, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this New Compound.

Harvesting of wheat now making rapid progress in western Europe favored by sunny weather, but in Germany unsettled weather is still hindering the movement of new grains and it is stated that the quality has been adversely affected. There are as yet no indications of an expansion in exports from Black Sea ports which cleared only 168,000 wheat to the continent this week compared with 408,000 a week ago and 2,816,000 last year. Argentina exported 2,670,000 compared with 3,337,000 a week ago and 504,000 last year. So far this year exports have amounted to approximately 100,000,000 bushels, but it is estimated that 134,000,000 still remain for export.

WHEAT FARMERS WILL RECEIVE BONUS PAYMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. — The United States agricultural adjustment administration announced today American wheat farmers will receive payments of 18 to 22 cents a bushel for complying with the 1940 crop control program.

This is from six to 10 cents a bushel less than payments of 28 cents on the 1939 crop. Officials explained the country's wheat acreage allotment of 62,000,000 acres for next year was larger than this year's allotment of 55,000,000, thus causing the reduced payment.

The benefit payments are based on normal yield on acreage allotments to the individual farmers.

PUZZLING TURN TAKEN IN U. S. OIL SITUATION

TULSA, Aug. 18.—Oildom was in confusion today after Sinclair, the major buyer which started an avalanche of crude oil price cuts, discontinued posting its prices in four states without explanation.

The puzzling turn followed the about-face of two independent companies which rescinded previous reductions of 20 cents a barrel.

Sinclair Prairie Oil Marketing Company issued a cryptic statement it "would, until further notice, discontinue posting the price that it would pay for crude oil" in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas.

Oil wells remained shut down in the four states where Sinclair said it was withdrawing price postings, and in Arkansas and Louisiana. Sinclair's 20-cent price slash Aug. 10 affected all six states.

THE CAUSE OF EYE DISEASES

By Jackson Bros., Optometrist

It has been advanced and proven that eyestrain is the one great cause of eye disease. That diseases of the eye which cause blindness are caused by imperfect circulation of blood in and around the eye. This poor circulation can nearly always be traced to over use or strain of eyes by using them under improper conditions. The eye has been overtaxed at some time. When you come to think of it you can probably fix the exact date. You were sick or nervous and used your eyes more than you should have done, perhaps reading fine print or doing other close work by a poor light.

The strain thus produced causes an irritation and congestion of the delicate nerves and muscles of the eye and an imperfect blood supply results. If the blood supply and circulation is cut off from the optic nerve it causes paralysis either partial or complete. If from the crystalline lens of the eye, cataract is the result. Any other disease may result from a like cause according to the part affected.

When you consider the intricate mechanism of this delicate organ, with its numerous muscles, nerves and hood vessels, you realize how easily its usefulness may become impaired.

It can readily be seen how eyestrain does affect the entire body of the person thus afflicted with this condition, and the sooner it is taken care of the better.

Our eyesight clinic is open every day except Sundays and holidays, which enables you to have a thorough eyesight examination by our registered optometrist. If you need glasses he will help you in the selection best suited for your individual requirements.

Further you can have the use of them while paying for them by using our well established easy pay plan in weekly or monthly payments.

CAR TRADE IS SERVICE UNIT MANAGER SAYS

J. L. Stewart, of Auto Chamber, Taking Essay Winners East

Auto industry of Canada, which exists to serve all parts of the Dominion, gives concrete evidence of its desire to promote national unity by the public relations work it carries on, J. L. Stewart, Toronto, general manager of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, said here Friday.

Accompanied by his daughter, Mr. Stewart was here to accompany local youngsters who have won trips east by their essays in the national competition on "What the Automobile Manufacturing Industry Does for Canada."

Robert Wark, 15, 10503 83 avenue, Strathcona Composite, and Marguerite Hayes, 15, 10240 95 concret, Victoria high school, are the two Edmonton school children winning the trip east during which they will be guests of the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto and pay visits to various automobile plants in Windsor, Oshawa, and other centres.

Lorna Margaret Hunter, Calgary, and Joyce Thompson, Craigmyle, are the two other winners from Alberta, together with Victoria Wachowicz, of Opal, Alberta, formerly of Melville, who won the Saskatchewan competition.

THOUSANDS OF ESSAYS

Five girls and seven boys from the three prairie province won trips east in the competition in which several thousand essays were submitted, said Mr. Stewart.

He leaves with the winning essayists Friday night for eastern Canada.

Through The Mill

Many a man has had his offer of marriage spurned. But there are mighty few of those males who couldn't too much who have been robbed as completely and rudely as a cowboy who appeared in police court Friday. The old cowhand had just been convicted on a charge of having committed an act which is liable to result in the 15-year-old girl concerned becoming a juvenile delinquent.

As the cadi began to consider the question of sentence, the cowboy jumped to his feet, signalled frantically to his lawyer, and then the two went into a huddle. The lawyer informs the court that his client is offering to make an honest woman out of our little heroine by stepping up to the altar and "I do-ing" with her.

"Yes?" says the cadi. "What does she have to say about this?" Well, the little lady just sat there without even opening her trap and about as much expression on her rather pretty face as you would expect to see on the side of a barn. Then the crown prosecutor explains that as the girl is a ward of the government she couldn't be married without consent and as the guy is twice her age it is very doubtful if that consent would be given, and anyway the guy just got out of the big house at Prince Albert a little while ago.

So the cadi says, "Oh!" and then proceeds to cash the ardent swain's hopes against the wall. "This is a serious affair. I am fining you $200 and costs with the option of one year in jail," says the cadi. As the cowhand hasn't got 200 cents let alone $200, he, too, will be a ward of the government for the next 12 months. But it will be summer when he gets out, anyway.

Out of the experience he gained from long association in the Temple of Nis in ancient Peru with the High Priestess, Tain-Tso, our old friend Tizz-Too penned the words: "My son, never do a favor for a woman, because it will just get you into trouble sooner or later." And one man in police court Thursday received a six-month jail sentence and a fine of $200 with the option of an additional six months because he helped a lady in distress.

The lady was a dope addict and she came into the poor goof's room and borrowed his stove to cook with a drug to get the dope out of it. Then the police came in. The cadi decided the guy was a party to the offence — illegal possession of drugs — and slapped on the fine and the time. The lady herself drew six months, a $400 fine and the option of six months more. So they won't be back until the summer breezes are blowing next year.

Hollander Who Hikes Believes War Danger Not Immediate Threat

By KEN METHERAL

"I feel certain that there is no immediate danger of war in Europe," according to 22-year-old Fritz Van Der Schrieck of Amsterdam, Holland, delegate from Leiden University to the Pax Romana Congress, world-wide Catholic student organization, which is being held at New York, August 27 to September 9.

Fritz, a rather tall, gangling youth, "dropped in" on his uncle, Antonius Leesberg, a steward at the Macdonald hotel here, Sunday morning. He left early Tuesday morning for Montreal and New York, where he will attend the congress before sailing for his home in Holland. He hitch-hikes whenever possible during his travels.

LACKS FOOD SUPPLIES

"Germany is lacking in far too many necessary food supplies at the present time to contemplate going to war in tne near future," declared the young visitor. "It is a rather funny thing, but I think that the people on this side of the Atlantic are more afraid of a war right now than Europeans," he said.

"The German working class is fairly well contented with Hitler's regime," said Van Der Schrieck. "Hitler has given them many improvements in the way of better homes, roads and public services. The restrictions that are put on the people in the way of cutting down on the use of butter and other commodities is passed off as sacrifice necessary for the good of the state and the German people are accepting it fairly calmly."

"At the same time there are many people in Germany who are opposed to Hitler. You find them among the more refined and well-read classes."

MOVING FAST

The young traveller has been moving at an almost record-breaking clip. He left his native land on July 11, arrived in New York, acted as a chauffeur for a party driving to Los Angeles and from there he travelled along the Pacific coast to Vancouver, thence to Calgary and Edmonton. To date he has covered about 10,000 miles, part of it by the "thumb route".

He has had little trouble getting along on the North American continent as he speaks English fluently. He is also able to speak Dutch, Flemish, French, German, Norwegian and Danish and is adept at Latin and Greek. He explained his linguistic ability by saying that it was necessary and common in his country, which is surrounded by so many different countries. All the languages listed are compulsory high school subjects in Holland with the exception of Norwegian and Danish, he said.

VAST STRETCHES

Fritz can't get used to the vast stretches of uninhabited prairie and foothills which he has encountered since reaching America.

He thinks that Canada would be a wonderful country to live in, but right now he is planning on hurrying back to Holland as soon as the congress at New York is completed so that he will be able to continue his law studies at Leiden university.

ROLLER SKATERS RECEIVE INJURY NIGHT ACCIDENT

First traffic accident involving roller skaters sent two Edmontonians, Don Roberrison, 10946 85 avenue, and Miss Elsie Wiggins, 10039 113 street, to the University hospital in a Star ambulance shortly before 11 p.m. Thursday.

The couple were roller skating on 104 avenue between 113 and 114 streets, when they were struck by an auto allegedly driven by Earl Strand, 10606 102 street. Strand said he was driving west at the time, and was temporarily blinded by the glare of the headlights of autos approaching him and did not see the skaters until after they had been struck.

Robertson has undetermined back injuries and Miss Wiggins is suffering from hip bruises and shock.

80 Reflectors For Sport Field Lights Received In City

Some 160 large boxes, which almost filled the city stores and warehouse on 96 street and 105A avenue, arrived in the city containing the 80 reflectors to be used to floodlight the gridiron at Clarke Stadium.

The reflectors, each of which came in two parts, will complete the flood-lighting system and should be in operation early next week, according to Wm. Barnhouse, superintendent of the city electric light department.

First football game of the season is scheduled to be played at Clarke Stadium under floodlights Friday evening of next week.

From Holland

Here's Fritz Van Der Schrieck, Dutch university student, who visited Edmonton this week. Fritz is hitch-hiking part of his journey across the continent, and is seen above in a typical pose, Dutch-shoe pipe and hitch-hiking thumb.

THE QUESTION

Do you think that the word "definitely" is overworked to its future disadvantage?

THE ANSWERS

CECIL GOULD, radio commentator: The word definitely is most assuredly overworked. Like many other words, it is used when it should not be. In this country we have a tendency to overwork certain words. It will probably go out of use in a year or so. I am certain that many people who are glibly use the word, do so without full appreciation of its meaning.

ROBERT McCREATH, typographer: Definitely is a greatly misused word. If most people were asked to define the word I am sure they could not do it. In a topsy-turvy world such as we have today, nothing is definite, and I am one who feels that the word is greatly overworked.

CECIL HEARN, truck-driver: I don't think the word is overworked. When people say definitely they mean definitely and any word used to express what people think and want to say, is not overworked.

THOMAS ALFRED, business man: Definitely.

• • •

CHARLIE THOMSON, clerk: Noel Coward, the versatile English author, singer and composer, is generally given credit for successfully launching this word in every-day conversation. It seems to have taken the English-speaking world by storm. Frankly, I think the word is overworked, and while it is expressive, more discretion should be used in using it.

General Hospital Building Starts: Cost Is $300,000

Excavating work for the new unit of the General hospital which will be built at an estimated cost of $300,000, was started Thursday morning. A portion of the hedge and fence surrounding the ground has been opened up to allow materials to pass through.

"Work is being rushed right ahead and we have already made a good start for the amount of time we have been working on the project," said Mr. G. H. MacDonald of the firm of MacDonald and Magoon, architects for the job. Contractor is H. G. Macdonald and Company.

REGULATIONS CHANGED FOR FALL SHOOT

Two Zones Established for Prairie Chicken Hunting, Report Reveals

Establishment of two zones this year for shooting of prairie chicken and drafting new regulations for shooting birds and big game this year, an Order-in-Council passed by the provincial government was released Friday. For the first time last year, the ban on prairie chicken was lifted after having been in effect for several years.

Prairie chicken and ruffed grouse can be shot in the region north of the Athabasca and Clearwater rivers from noon, Oct. 2 until sundown on Oct. 31. South of the Clearwater and Athabasca rivers and north of the C.N.R. main line running through Wainwright, Edmonton and Edson, the prairie chicken and ruffed grouse season will be from noon on Oct. 2 until sundown on Oct. 14.

ONE MONTH

In the region north of this city, prairie chicken could be shot for two weeks last year, while this year provision is made for one month's shooting in the far northern part of the province and for two weeks further south.

In the rest of the province, south of the C.N.R. main line through this city, the season is closed. Prairie chicken and ruffed grouse bags are five birds a day or 25 for the season.

The Hungarian partridge shooting season will be open south of the North Saskatchewan river from Oct. 2 to Nov. 30 both dates inclusive. The bag limit for Hungarian partridge is 150 for the season, which is a reduction from last season when the limit was 200.

DUCK SHOOTING

As previously announced ducks and geese may be shot from Sept. 7 to Nov. 7 inclusive north of the Clearwater and Athabasca rivers from Sept. 15 to No. 15 inclusive between the Athabasca and Clearwater rivers and Red Deer, from Sept. 20 to Nov. 29 inclusive south of Red Deer.

WINGS NORTH

Plans for placing a mill on the Thompson - Lundmark properties have been postponed until the company has fully investigated the potentialities of the area, Mr. Fraser vein and the Island vein —which have been discovered within the past month, it was reported here Friday by A. K. Muir, development superintendent who is now in Edmonton conferring with G. A. Burge, president, and other officials of the company.

At the present time drifting is being done on the 150 and 300-foot levels from the main shaft on the original Kim vein. Drifting on the Fraser vein has shown rich promise and a shaft will be sunk immediately to see just what is there, while drifting on the Island vein is planned at once.

Fire which threatened Yellowknife and the Con mine earlier this week has been brought under control by the reliable fire fighter, Mother Nature, who turned on the waterworks Thursday. A drenching rain has removed all hazard. Speaking of the fire situation, Leigh Brintnell, president of Mackenzie Air Service, suggested that the appointment of a Fire Marshal at Yellowknife who would be given authority to hire men to fight the fires might prevent any outbreaks in the future. The airplane companies would be glad to give voluntary detection service.

CONSTRUCTION NEW BUILDING OPENS IN FALL

Federal Project Costs $400,000; City Awaits Cheque for Site

Work on the new federal building is to be built opposite the court house on 100 street, at an estimated cost of $400,000, is expected to start late this fall, according to a report received at City Hall Friday. Construction may continue through the winter months.

To date the city has not received a cheque for the land on which the Dominion government plans to construct the building. Several weeks ago the city accepted an offer of $15,000 for this property, formerly a part of the long-planned Civic Centre.

Transfer of title of the land has been made out by the city land department and has been forwarded to the law firm of Friedman, Lieberman and Sewell, which is acting for the federal government. As soon as the lawyers secure duplicate copies of the certificate of title, it is expected that Ottawa will send the cheque.

Civic officials stated that the delay was not unusual and that the deal would be completed as soon as the transaction details had been cleared away.

Blacklist For Mail Service Is Effective

There are a number of Edmontonians who aren't permitted to receive mail through the post office's regular channels, officials reveal. They are persons who have had their rights to the use of the mails suspended because they used that service for posting and receiving lottery materials or other illegal purposes. Names will be added to the "blacklist" on order of the postmaster general. They will be removed if the person concerned will give a written statement to the effect that they will desist from the illegal pursuits.

VALPY, MATHESON SET SWIM RECORD

South Siders Win Three Title Events

By JACK DEAKIN

SOUTH Side swimmers turned in three championship performances in their home tank last night to win three of the four provincial titles at stake in the second of three Alberta outdoor championship galas. Third and last of these swims will be held at the West End pool tonight.

George Valpy's great swim in the men's 440 yards event scored South Side's first championship triumph. Althea McCormick followed up with a triumph in the 100 yards and Bennie Clarke sprinted to the front in the men's 50 yard dash for South Side's third title. Rene Rawlins of the East End club copped the fourth crown.

She won the ladies' 440.

Valpy, the barrel-chested South Side ace who will represent Edmonton at the Wrigley western Canada trials Aug. 26 at Saskatoon, had to swim a great race to beat Doug Matheson of the West End Club. Rivalry has been exceptionally keen between Valpy and Matheson and last night both swimmers shattered the provincial record for the men's 440.

THRILLING RACE

Valpy was but a foot in front of Matheson as they raced to the finish line. It was a thrilling finish and by far the best race of the night as Valpy was forced to clip 3 1-5 seconds off the provincial record. Valpy's time was 5 minutes, 19 1-5 seconds while the old time was 5 minutes, 22 2-5 seconds. Matheson's close finish behind the winner credited him with practically the same record time.

Althea McCormick, South Side's great threat during the entire swim season against East End's brilliant Rene Rawlins, outsped the Eastender in the ladies' 100 yards. The South Side ace swam a smart race and had too much early speed for Rawlins.

Bennie Clarke's triumph in the men's 50 yard sprint sent the chunky South Side swimmer in ahead of West End's starry Bob Matheson and thus with Valpy's win over Doug, completed the Matheson rout.

RENE WINS AGAIN

In the longer 440 race Rene Rawlins finished much stronger than Althea McCormick and Rene picked up her third provincial championship. Rene is the Wrigley mile champion, provincial winner in the 220 and took her third crown last night. Rene will also represent Edmonton at Saskatoon in the Wrigley western Canada swims.

Dot Edwards had little trouble winning the Burr cup in the junior girls ½ mile race. She was the only one in the race to finish, the remaining swimmers dropping out after being hopelessly outclassed.

Only three of the 10 provincial titles remain undecided. These will be decided at the West End tank and with no southern Alberta entries, Edmonton swimmers will undoubtedly clean up on all provincial crowns.

Eskology

TED HEATH

Expected to prove an outstanding performer in the backfield of the Edmonton Eskimos during the 1939 Western Canada Conference campaign is Ted Heath, who has played all his football in this city.

Heath has been showing remarkable form as a blocking half in training this year and Coach Bob Fritz looks for him to come through with some great games for the blue and white squad when the season gets underway.

Born in Saskatoon, Sask., on February 16, 1915, Ted now weighs 185 pounds and stands five feet, 11 inches.

He attended McKay Avenue School and Victoria High, where he played his first football, later playing with Kinsmen, Hi-Grads and other local teams before joining the Esks last year.

Ted is an all-round athlete and starred on defence for the great E.A.C. junior hockey team of 1934 that reached the Dominion finals.

His favorite hobby is photography.

ALBERTA TEAM WINS RIFLE CUP

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont., Aug. 18.—An Alberta team from Military District No. 13 Thursday won the Jubilee cup, awarded to the team making the highest aggregate score in the qualifying stage of the Governor General's match at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association annual meet.

The Alberta team, composed of Lieut. S. Johnson, Calgary; Sgt. T. Jensen, Innisfail; Tpr. M. Ostergaard, Wayne; Tpr. J. Wilson, Innisfail; Cpl. F. Mercer, Calgary; Cpl. D. MacDonald, Calgary; Pte. H. King, Vulcan, and Pte. W. McNab, Calgary, scored 776 points of a possible 800.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

That Wobbly One

Esks Cheer Fans

This and That

DOWN at Saint John they have been grooming the course that the Canadian Open is being played on for a long time for this meet and apparently the club officials were determined that their par figures would not be kicked around by a bunch of pro and amateur slickers.

Only four shotmakers out of field of 82 were able to card sub-par figures for the opening round of 18-holes on Thursday. Jug McSpaden's 67 and the 68's of Ralph Guldahl, Arthur Hurlburt of Toronto and the unknown Ted Bishop of Boston were the only scores under the course's par of 70.

Edmonton's Henry Martell went haywire on his first nine and, although he was par on the second nine, his score skyrocketed to 78. So did London's famous Sandy Somerville. The Silent Scot got himself into just as much trouble as Martell did.

It looks as if yesterday brought that wobbly round that still slips into Martell's golf once in awhile. But they all are subject to such off rounds—even the great Bobby Jones had a spell now and then when he just couldn't get it done in par figures. It will be mighty surprising though if Henry isn't back in sub-par form today to stroke his way up among the first 15 or 20.

Eskimos Take to the Air

LAST night Coach Bob Fritz put his Eskimos through a long hard drill before a good turn out of fans. With enough players on hand for two squads, the fiery skipper ran over the plays that will form the frame work of the Esks' offensive this season.

That workout left no doubt but what the 1939 Eskimos will be dangerous from every attacking point—the line, the ends and in the air. That line that Russ Wile is building is something that Edmontonians can view with pride and a sense of security. If it doesn't hold such opposition as the Bombers, Roughriders and Brooks, then the only thing that will hold them is a section of the Maginot line re-inforced with the Rocky Mountains.

It was the work of the backfield and ends though that warmed the cockles of my heart. Vince Yatchek, Ted Heath and Steve Olander were kicking spirals that twisted down field for 35 and 60 yards as regularly as if fired from a gun. It's going to be a mighty punter that out-distances the Eskimos this year.

Then there is Matheny to forward pass and carry the mail. He's going to be one of the biggest sensations of the conference—or else I'm going to have the reddest face in this section of the west. He was snapping forward passes last night that travelled up to 60 yards with little more trajectory than a baseball thrown the same distance. And can that compact little man scamper! I think I would rather try to catch a greased pig than him. Paul Kirk is also firing forward passes like a 75 calibre field gun. Paul got two terrific wallops on the forearm the other day when the crank slipped while he was unloading a couple tons of gravel from a truck. It is a miracle the bone wasn't smashed, but he's just about O.K. again.

With ends like O'Brien, McGreevy, Henderson and Russ Rennie, these forward passes from the backs and Pilot Fritz are going to gain plenty of ground this season.

And don't forget, fellow citizens, that the first game of the Western Conference is here on Friday, August 25, at 8:30 p.m. under the new floodlights. Dean Griffing and his Regina Roughriders will be the invading club. Unless the weather goes haywire, that game is likely to be a sell out. If you don't get a seat, don't blame me for not issuing a warning in time.

The special airplane silk for the Eskimos' new pants arrived from New York yesterday and today an Edmonton factory is hard at work making them up. Wednesday night the club will hold a full dress workout under the floods.

Just a Short Roundup

HERE is a comforting thought for today. If you had bet two bucks on the nose of Mon Nuage in the first race yesterday and if Mon Nuage had finished first instead of sixth they would have taken a deep breath at the parimutuels and paid you just a shade under two hundred dollars for your trifling investment. She was the longest shot that has gone to the post in the current fall meet.

Civilian, the seven year-old gelding owned by A. Stewart of Winnipeg, was destroyed at the track barns early Thursday morning. He broke down in the final race on Wednesday's card and limped to the barns in agony. The injury was diagnosed as beyond repair.

Coach Claire Hollingsworth of the Army and Navy Pats, girl softball intermediates, was the recipient of a fine presentation from the girls last night after their practice. Claire will try his hand at the matrimonial game shortly.

SPORTS BULLETINS

Frank Coulson Signs Pair of Former E.A.C. Players for Olds' Puck Squad

By BILL LEWIS

BUD FOLEY and Bob David, both members of Edmonton Athletic Club juniors, Western Canada champions last season, yesterday signed to play with Olds' Elks in the Alberta Senior Hockey League during the 1939-40 campaign, according to an announcement made to The Bulletin last night by Coach Frank Coulson.

Foley, who is to try out with New York Rovers of the Rangers' farm system, signed a conditional contract, if Lester Patrick decides he needs more seasoning, he will return to join the Olds' team.

David, who has been at his Saskatoon home since the finish of last hockey season, returned, to Edmonton Wednesday and was signed by the Elks' coach yesterday.

NINE LOCAL STARS

Signing of these two players increased to nine the total of Edmonton boys secured by the southern club since the appointment of Coulson as coach was announced last Sunday. Other local players secured to date are: Bob "Pinky" Proulx, who was with the team last season; "Pug" Young, of the E.A.C.; Harry Black, Don Gulley and Alex Watt, who performed with the junior Canadians in 1938-39; and Dick Mather and Mel Lunde, who played in intermediate ranks here last winter.

Elks also lay claim to Gordon Robbins, their goaltender of last season who was signed by the Eskimos in the spring and has been working here ever since. However, heads of the Alberta Senior Hockey League are to hand down a ruling in Robbins' case and until such time as they do, it will not be known whether he belongs to Olds or the Eskimos.

SEEKS DEFENCEMEN

Coulson also made known that he hoped to sign three Saskatchewan defence stars to complete his roster. These players are Walter McIntyre and Bill Dertell, who performed with Saskatoon Quakers last winter; and Doug Lane, of Prince Albert, who was with Regina Aces during the 1938-39 season. McIntyre formerly played under Coulson when he coached North Battleford Beavers, and Edmonton senior champions in 1937.

Going to Olds Elks

It was announced yesterday that two members of the Western Canada junior hockey champions, Edmonton Athletic Club, had signed to play with Olds Elks in the Alberta Senior League during the coming season. They are Bob David, left, above, and Bud Foley, shown at right. Foley will be with the Elks provided he does not make the grade with one of New York Rangers' farm teams in his tryout this fall.

ROYALS WINNERS NORTHERN TITLE

South Side Royals captured the Northern Alberta intermediate softball championship when they defeated Alberta Avenue Aces in a hard-fought battle last night by a score of 14-10.

Royals will now meet the southern winners, either Calgary Chinooks or Olds, for the provincial title.

The winners got a total of 11 hits and six walks to pile up their 14 runs last night, while Aces were only able to get seven safe blows.

EPERRAY, unable to be with the leaders early, went into contention with a rush approaching the last turn, came on almost even pace with the winner but faltered when placed to the drive. CARMINOWE showed a nice turn of early speed, made the pace for three furlongs but could not hold on. MESSENGER MAID was badly blocked and had to be taken up wide on the inside and moving up on the backstretch. GLADIS EVER was soon done.

Believe It Or Not — — — By Robt. Ripley

The Fishermen's Guide is a regular Bulletin sport page feature appearing every Thursday and bringing the most accurate and up to the minute information on conditions in the best fishing sections of the province.

JASPER NATIONAL PARK: Fish are taking flies well on the Maligne River and in Beaver Lake. Leach Lake has yielded nice catches of rainbow trout, recently. Good catches of Kamloops trout are also being made in Amethyst Lakes. Edith and Annette Lakes have been good for rainbow and brown trout. Favored flies are black and brown bivis. Royal Coachman, Pemichene Belle, Western Bee, black and brown Montreals. Sizes 8 to 12 are most effective. Medium sized spinners, Tacomas, Cowichans and Colorados are the best. All variety of accommodations available. Boats available at Pyramid, Maligne, Medicine and Beaver Lakes. Waters are normal and clear.

BANFF NATIONAL PARK: Owing to the large number of tourists now fishing in this area it is necessary to go back some distance from the highways and park roads to get good results. Some of the finest trout fishing on the continent is now available on the Spray River for those who go up it about 22 miles. Fine large trout abound in the fast water at this point. Lakes in the Temple Lodge in the Ptarmigan Valley district near Lake Louise are exceptionally good for fly fishing now. They are from seven to 10 miles from Lake Louise station. Anglers can reach those various waters on horseback, bicycle or on foot.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE: Good catches are being made in Prairie Creek and other streams. On Tuesday 42 grayling were caught in Prairie Creek by a party of three. Lake waters are too warm just now for good fish and fishing. Salmon trout are being taken in Tay River and its tributaries. Black gnat is the most effective fly. Small pearl spoons are also good. Waters are normal and clear. All side roads are in excellent condition.

RED DEER AREA: Red Deer River is clear. Pickerel are biting well on Bear Valley spoons and Whisky Wobblers. Pike are starting to bite again after a lull of a week or two. Goldeye are going down stream, but few catches are reported. Conditions on the Blindman River are the same as the Red Deer. On the North and South Raven Loch Leven trout are biting well and capacity catches are reported. Dry flies are most effective here. Black Gnat, large Gordon Pink Lady. Good catches of perch are being made at Pine Lake. All accommodations are available at this point. District roads are dry and in good shape.

EDSON AREA: 131 miles west of Edmonton on Highway 16. Waters are normal and clear. Catches during the past week have been fair. Mr. Sherman, Mr. Mackie and Mr. Magnus and flies are the baits used. Side roads are a bit rough.

The following are the major fishing spots with their distances from Edson: Trout Creek, 14 miles northeast, rainbow trout and grayling. Jack's Flats, 33 miles northeast, grayling; Five-Mile Prairie, 40 miles northeast, rainbow trout and grayling; Sixteen Creek, 37 miles northeast, rainbow trout and grayling. Venusett Comes in With Mint on Nose

Edmonton Bulletin Sports Editor

THEY ran free and fancy on the fifth day of Edmonton's fall race meet Thursday afternoon before a crowd almost as large as the Wednesday holiday turnout. Another track record was smashed by Prince Pagan, four favorites won to make lots of the folks happy—and three long shots scampered in for payoffs that made the fans' mouths water. To complete a perfect day the total betting showed a 12 per cent increase over what it was on the fifth day of the 1938 fall meet.

It was Venusett, the five-year-old mare owned by W. E. Lambert of Drumheller, that provided the day's biggest flood of shekels when she took the seventh race like Hitler took Austria. She was the second longest shot in the eight-horse scamper over the mile and sixteenth. Garry Owen was the only horse the fans showed less confidence in. The few heaven-kissed fortunates that bet on Venusett reaped $62.80 straight, $19.15 for place and $7.90 show.

Lamberti's surprise package broke from the starting gate in the lead and never even saw another horse until the wire was passed. Sisinbol and Early Beck provided a stretch challenge for Venusett as they finished second and third respectively, but the Drumheller mare had enough left to meet the bid and win by half a length. Happy Jester, the public's heavy favorite, was edged out of third place in the stretch and finished fourth.

Venusett provided a quinella of $145.60 for a handful of privy-anis who figured her and Sisinbad as the right combination.

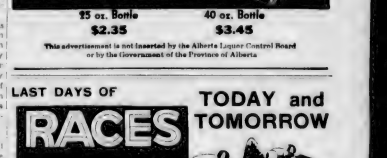

Prince Pagan set a second Edmonton track record when he won the featured fifth race, a five furlong sprint, in one minute and two-fifths seconds—two-fifths better than the mark first set by Wesly's Pin back in 1922 and equalled in 1937 by Messenger Maid. Prince Pagan, owned by Edmonton sportsman Tom Eperjesy, finished one whisker ahead of Prince Emory in the gruelling dash to one minute, 36 and four-fifths seconds long during the Exhibition meet in July.

Paired with Messenger Maid as the entry of the T. H. Morrison stable from Airdrie, Prince Pagan took over the lead from Eperjesy and Carminowe at the three-quarter pole and rambled in winner by lengths under the riding of Johnny Craigmyle. The Morrison entry was the second favorite, a couple of decimal points off Eperjesy in the betting.

Warrior Lyons gave the form bettors jittery nerves right at the start when he won the first race of the day by forging into the lead at the half-way mark and holding on to lead the field under the wire half a length ahead of Laurian and Marelda. A fairly long shot that paid off at the rate of $13.00, $9.10 and $4.85. Laurian, second and longest in the betting, added to the jittery condition of form players, when he came for second money. He paid $23.60 to place and $8.25 to show. Marelda, the big favorite, finished third.

Atkinson and Craigmyle were the only riders to score double wins on Thursday.

Martell Badly Off Form In First Round of Open

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 18.—The men who laughed at Riverside's yawning bunkers and thick woods, had the laugh thrown right back at them Thursday as par yielded only four times in the first round of the Canadian open golf championship and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, a man who made no predictions, took a two-stroke lead of 67 on the field of 82.

No fewer than seven had 74's and back of this group at 75 came two of the leading amateurs, Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ont., and Henry Martell of Edmonton, finalist in the Canadian amateur and recent winner of the Ontario open.

Somerville and Martell, both under 70 in practice, were far off their games. Sandy started into trouble on the second when he drove into a rock pile, and finished with six.

HENRY'S WORST EVER

Martell, thoroughly disgusted after a disastrous 40 going out, said it was the worst medal round he had played at the start of any tournament.

He was wandering on the first nine, three-putted one green and topped two drives. He got three birdies coming home but these were offset by a pair of fives.

The general impression among the topflight professionals after a few practice rounds had been that Riverside would be torn apart. Yet McSpaden, three-times Massachusetts open champion from Winchester, Mass., Arthur Hulbert of Toronto, Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N.J., and Ted Bishop, Boston amateur, were the only ones to break Riverside's exacting 70.

STRONG WITH IRONS

McSpaden, on a short course where his great play is a strong factor, put together a 32 and 35 for 67 that left him two strokes ahead of Guldahl, the tournament favorite who posted a 33 on the last nine; Hulbert, one of Canada's leading pros for several years, and Bishop, an unknown who startled the gallery with his fine round.

The wind blew up in the afternoon and was as much to blame as anything for the generally high scores. Nicely in fifth place, and second amateur, Phil Farley of Toronto shot two 35's and had Stan Horne of Montreal and Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N.J., at his heels with 71's.

Ghezzi, who started with Guldahl as the choice for the $1,000 first prize, shot his worst round of the week with 36-35—71.

JACKIE BERG IS SUSPENDED

TRENTON, N.J., Aug. 18.—Jack (Kid) Berg, veteran English welterweight, was suspended indefinitely Thursday from New Jersey rings by Athletic Commissioner Abe Greene.

Berg was scheduled to fight Lou Fortuna of Philadelphia in Trenton last night.

Green said he was notified by Berg's managers that Berg, "without notice to them, had undergone an operation for removal of scar tissue around the eyes and would be unavailable" for tonight's match.

Civics, Callies Will Play Final Under Floodlights

CALGARY, Aug. 18.—Calgary's first soccer match under floodlights will be played Saturday night when Calgary Callies will attempt to wipe out a three-goal deficit held by Edmonton Civics in the last of their home-and-home total-goal series for the Alberta senior championship.

Civics won the first game 3-2 last Saturday at Edmonton.

Lighting equipment at Mewata Stadium, installed principally through demand of spectators wishing to attend night sports, has been thoroughly tested.

A white ball will be used in Saturday's game instead of the customary brown sphere. The game is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

He had been in the 60's consistently in practice.

Bunched with 72's was a group of five professionals and one amateur, Jerry Gianferante of Calais, Me. The pros were Jimmy Rimmer of Halifax, leading Maritimer with 39-33, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., Herman Barron of White Plains, N.Y., and Gordon Brydson and Bobby Burns of Toronto.

Black's Big Hit Breaks Up Game

MAPLE LEAFS failed to pound the ball as often as the Unions, but they pelted the sphere for greater distance and Harry Black's eighth inning home run gave the Leafs a 4-3 junior baseball triumph against the Unions at Renfrew Park last night.

Black's circuit blow was a long one. The ball hit the centre field wall and the fleet footed short fielder had little trouble in rounding the bags for the circuit and the winning run.

Leafs got the ball only four times. Two of these four hits went for extra bases, one being a triple by Miles and the other Black's big hit. These extra base knocks accounted mostly for Leafs' four earned runs and their one run margin.

But despite their loss the Unions played better ball than the Leafs. Unions had only one error but they failed to have the necessary power on the offensive. Unions had at least three more chances to break up the ball game. In one instance they allowed three men to "die" on the bases. A hit any of these times would have meant certain triumph. Leafs were very ineffective on the defensive. They made eight errors, and all of these misplays were chalked up against an infield combination which was hot and cold throughout.

MILES WAS BEST

Miles was Leafs' best at the bat. He clubbed two hits in three trips while Black and Kilburn got one hit each.

Billy Lupul turned in a neat four-hit pitching job. He gave off only one hit for the first six frames and that was Miles' triple which resulted in a run. The Leafs caught Lupul for two singles in the seventh and one in the eight.

Made from a SECRET FORMULA 200 years old!

SILVER FIZZ
London Dry GIN
12 oz. $1.00
24 oz. $2.00

THIS sounds like an exaggeration—but it's not! The document containing this formula for London Dry Gin is locked away in our vault and only one man in the organization (William Strange, famous gin distiller from London, England) knows what's in it. This generations-old formula has made world-famous the "London Dry" type of gin—and now it is used to make the UDL brand of London Dry Gin, "SILVER FIZZ."

BUT THAT'S NOT ALL! To get the best out of this famous formula, crystal-clear, non-alkaline water is essential. Fortunately, Vancouver is abundantly supplied in this respect.

MOSQUITOES

A mosquito is the front end of an itch.

Mosquitoes inhabit only the most expensive summer resorts, and, like men with small, waxed moustaches, can be most often found in the vicinity of women in evening dresses.

There are several ways of handling mosquitoes. You can cover yourself completely with a smelly oil, in this fashion, you drive away the mosquitoes, and feel six times as greasy and uncomfortable than if bitten all over. Or, you can sleep completely covered by mosquito netting, in which case, near-suffocation sets in, while the mosquitoes laughingly sting you through the holes in the netting.

In fact, there is only one way to handle mosquitoes. And that is, as roughly as possible.

Good Dance Partners Perfect Steps at Home

Avoid Blunders on Dance Floor

No mystery why everyone avoids a partner who does his practicing on the dance floor!

"The Change Step in the Westchester!" he booms. "No, I don't know it, but now's a good time to learn." And off he goes, expecting to succeed with pushes and shoves!

The new steps are so easy to learn at home with diagrams, there's no reason why anyone should fumble in doing them at dances—or resign himself to doing the old steps over and over again!

As he steps forward into other smart variations the man indicates the lead with a forward motion of his body. The girl follows easily if she is erect, lightly balanced on the balls of her feet.

Learn the new steps, how to do them with grace and ease, from our 32-page booklet. Gives diagrams and instructions for the Westchester, waltz, tango, rhumba, Conga, Samba, fox trot and shag, also the Castle Walk, Walz, and Maxixe. Includes basic steps, smart variations.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "How To Do the Newest Dance Steps and Variations" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Answer: Six. The conspicuous fleshy claspers which often are mistaken for the legs of a caterpillar are not true legs at all, but are called "prolegs."

Fire In Camp

LONDON, Aug. 18—Fire broke out today in a gunnery camp near Amesbury, Wiltshire, destroyed a new officers' mess and hut. Incendiarism was suspected.

FINAL STEPS PLANNED FOR RUSSIA PACT

Agreement With France-Britain Now Said Near

LONDON, Aug. 18.—An optimistic prediction final steps will be taken soon to conclude political phases remaining in the way of agreement by Russia with France and Great Britain on a mutual aid pact came today from well informed quarters.

Official circles, meanwhile, insist the government sees no new cause for alarm in this week's European developments. This view of the recent intensification of international political and military activity is in a degree reflected in the attitude of the average Briton.

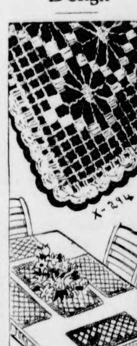

Talk of speedy conclusion of the Anglo-Franco-Soviet agreement followed reports the military staff discussions of the three powers in Moscow are preceeding "quickly and well."

"Good progress" similarly was reported toward conclusion of formal British treaties with Poland and Turkey to replace present mutual guarantees.

What To Do

When I arrive home from a dance between the hours of 11 and 12 should I invite my escort in for a while or should I leave him at the door? My parents insist I leave him at the door, but I feel I'm doing wrong, especially when the man appears to expect to enter.

SIBYL W.

Answer—If you mean that your escort expects to make a visit after he sees you home, your parents have every right to object. In fact, a young man should not linger at a girl's home at a late hour even if he is invited to do so. If you come home in a car a simple way to climax the evening would be to sit in the car for a few minutes after you arrive home to wind up any unfinished conversation. But if you do not come home in an automobile, rather than have your escort stand on the doorstep while you thank him for a pleasant evening, it would seem only natural for him to step inside for just a moment, especially when you live with your family. Surely your parents could not object to this bit of courtesy.

WORK TO START $20,000 WING CITY HOSPITAL

Plans are being completed, and it is expected that work will be begun on the new obstetrical wing of the University hospital Monday, the additions costing $20,000 and appropriation for which was passed at the last session of the legislation.

The new addition will follow the cottage style of structure housing the present obstetrical wing, and will be a one-storey frame and stucco building 74 by 42 feet. It will provide seven additional maternity wards, and will completely modernize the present wing, with additional accommodation, air-conditioning and other modern features, according to Dr. R. T. Washburn, hospital superintendent.

The addition will be the first to the hospital in about six years, and will be built at the rear of the hospital, attached to the present wing at the south end of the building.

Pump Guns Still Allowed Hunters Wallace Reports

Pump guns may be used for shooting in this province as they have been in the past, as no new provision has been made which would prohibit them, W. H. Wallace, provincial fish and game commissioner declared Thursday.

He said that several inquiries had been received from various parts of the province as to whether the regulations governing use of this type of gun had been changed.

"There is no change," he said. "Automatic guns are prohibited under the Alberta Game Act, whether they are plugged or not. These are guns that are self-loading from the recoil. But so far as pump guns are concerned, where each shell has to be pumped into the breech, the law permits their use, and there is no change from last year."

Murder on the Boardwalk

By Ellnore C. Stone

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CHRISTINE THORENSON came to visit her cousin, found a mystery.

BILL YARDLEY had a reason for watching Christine.

GEORGE WILMET employed Christine as a Boardwalk artist.

CHANDRA looked into the future —and into the past.

* * *

Yesterday: When Christine arrives in Surf City to visit her Cousin Emma, there is no one to meet her. Christine calls her cousin's home, is told service has been discontinued. The telephone operator adds, mysteriously, "If there's any trouble, you're to call Main 2079."

CHAPTER II

I WAS to tell you to get a room at the Crestview, and—" Abruptly the agitated voice at the other end of the line broke off. When the girl spoke again, it was with the studied impersonality of the regimented operator: "I am sorry. Your party does not answer."

For a moment Christine sat, stunned, trying to grasp the entirety of the dilemma in which she found herself. She did not even try to understand the amazing conversation she had just finished.

She could go to the hotel, of course—but in the present state of her finances, any hotel bill assumed the dimensions of a national debt. . . . Or she might just sit here for the rest of the night. But in that event, how was she to get rid of that officious young man?

As she had expected, he was waiting inexorably when she went back to the platform.

"Well?" he demanded.

"Well," Christine told him, catching at the first phrases fate lent to her tongue, "it seems that as the result of an unexpected domestic upheaval, my cousin has no one to send to meet me. So I'm to go to a nice, quiet hotel for the night."

"A nice, quiet hotel in Surf City?" He grinned. "Have you one in mind?"

Scrabbling about in her memory, Christine pulled out a name. . . . "Crestview," the telephone girl had said. . . . And Christine definitely recalled Cousin Emma's remarking once, "If there is a respectable hotel in Surf City, I suppose it's the Crestview."

"Oh, the Crestview, I suppose," Christine said casually.

"The Crestview, hm?" He looked at her with new interest. "Well, there's nothing like camping on the battlefield if you belong to Amalgamated shares to vote tomorrow."

"Battlefield?" Christine echoed. "I hear there's likely to be a regular gory little war over that merger between Amalgamated and National at the stockholders' meeting. . . . But forget it. It's not my war anyhow. . . . Well, shall me start? I'll drive you over. My car's out there."

"Thanks, but I'm taking a taxi." He shrugged.

"Suit yourself. One for you, or does your rugged individualism run to calling your own cabs?"

At that moment a taxi rolled into a berth at the end of the platform, and laughing a little, they pursued toward it.

While the driver was stowing Christine's bags away, the young man began almost distinctly, "Of course, I'm taking a chance of your shouting for the police, but the Crestview runs into money. . . .

What I mean is -well, I know that young girls don't carry a lot around, especially when they're visiting relatives. If you—it would only be a loan. . . ."

Christine thought, "It's strange, but I never felt this way about a man before—as if I'd known him forever—as if sorrow from him would be perfectly right and natural."

Aloud she said, "I'm really all right. But thank you, Mr.—"

"The fellers," he told her, "call me Bill. . . . I wish you would. Miss Talbert."

"But my name isn't Talbert. It's Thorenson—Christine Thorenson."

Once in her luxurious quarters at the Crestview, Christine emptied the contents of her purse on the bed and counted anxiously.

When she had told the bare-headed young man that she was "all right," she had been guilty of a brash overstatement. After she had bought her railway ticket, she had had left in silver and bills which she optimistically expected to stretch into pin-money and modest tips to Cousin Emma's household.

Now, after the extravagance of a night at the most "respectable" hotel in Surf City, she would barely have enough for a return ticket home. And the prospects to speak of after she got back.

"Oh, well," Christine told herself, "Cousin Emma must have made some arrangement for me. I'll hear from her tomorrow."

She took a bath in the luxurious tub, put on her satin night-gown, and fell into a dreamless sleep.

When the sunlight awoke her early next morning, her immediate interest was only in breakfast —lots of it.

She dressed carefully, selecting her green linen with the orange and black Balkan embroidery, which was perfect with the copper of her hair, and the open-toed pumps she had picked up for almost nothing at a little New York shop.

On her way through the hotel-lobby she paused to her that there must be a message from Cousin Emma, and stopped at the desk.

But there was no message for Miss Thorenson.

Christine thought a little forlornly as she went down the Boardwalk, scrutinizing the menus posted in the windows of the cheaper restaurants. "I'll think of something—after I've had a good, strong cup of coffee."

But even after two cups—neither of them too good—in a small cafe reeking of fried fish, the only idea that occurred to Christine was that she was practically broke, and stranded alone in one of the most expensive, most heartless pleasure resorts in the country.

As often happened when she was deeply absorbed, her hand crept to a pencil—found one a waitress had left on the table, and the only drawing paper at hand, the back of a menu card—and began to sketch.

Rousing from her abstraction, Christine compared her sketch with the original, the fat, insufferably self-satisfied looking proprietor of the cafe; she was frowning over the finishing touches when a voice said, "Excuse me, but that is really excellent!"

Startled, Christine turned. A plump, neat little man—bald except for a tuft of hair well back on a shiny pink scalp—was peering down at her sketch through astigmatic lenses.

He might have been any small-town business man, or a teacher or clergyman on vacation. . . . Christine decided against the clergyman. After all, this was Surf City.

When Christine looked up, he gave a funny duck of a bow and coughed apologetically. Because he looked so harmless, she was not offending her, and because Christine was a friendly young woman, she gave him her best smile and said "Thank you."

"I suppose," he asked, "that you are employed somewhere as an artist?"

"I wish I were," Christine replied from her heart.

"Then," he asked, "you might consider an offer?"

"Just try making me one," Christine said flatly.

"You see," he went on, "I have a concession that isn't paying. I should be grateful if you could help me."

"Should you mind," Christine asked, clasping her fingers to keep them from shaking, "explaining what you want?"

"I need some one to do portraits every minute. Not that, but in color. You'd just stand in a studio near the Boardwalk and draw passers-by at so much each. A fast worker like you should easily make $5 a day. . . . That is"—he hesitated anxiously —"you'd probably have to pretty some of the customers up a little."

"For $5," Christine told him, "I'm entirely willing to make them all look like movie stars—especially if it will contribute to the self-esteem of the great American public. When do we start?"

Christine had no way of knowing that with her impulsive acceptance of what seemed an honorable good luck, she plunged into the most tragic events of her life.

Illy - Fitted Shoe Causes Death Of Winnipeg Boy

VANCOUVER, Aug. 18.—Sterling Ferguson, 19-year-old Winnipeg youth, died last night from a foot infection hospital attendants said they believed had been caused by a rubbing shoe.

Ferguson lapsed into a coma shortly after admittance to hospital and was unable to give authorities any details regarding his condition.

Attendants, however, said he had a sore foot, which apparently was aggravated by rubbing of his shoe and the infection was far advanced when he was taken to hospital.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Claude Ferguson, at Winnipeg.

According To Culbertson

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: First let me say that I am a mere man and play a slightly below average game of contract. I am forced to admit this fact because duplicate tournaments have established it as such. Last night, however, in a friendly game of rubber contract, I was told I made a wrong bid and was criticized for something which I felt was 100 per cent right. The criticism came from my partner (my wife) who is an excellent contract player and who, in most instances, is correct. Occasionally, however, she sticks to her guns, regardless! This was the hand that caused the trouble.

"West, dealer.
"North-South vulnerable.
"East-West part score 60.

	NORTH ♠ A 10 3 ♥ A J 2 3 ♦ 10 7 6 ♣ Q 7 6
WEST ♠ 5 ♥ K Q 10 6 ♦ K Q 4 ♣ A K 10 9 4		EAST ♠ Q J 8 7 6 5 4 ♥ 7 ♦ J 10 8 3 ♣ J
	SOUTH ♠ K 9 ♥ 9 8 6 5 4 ♦ 9 6 ♣ 8 5 3 2

"The bidding went as follows:

West	North	East	South
1 club	Double	Pass	1 heart
2 clubs	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 no tr'p	Pass	3 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

"The three spade contract went down one trick. I was west, my wife East. The moment my hand was laid down she asked me why I had bid two no trump and I, in turn, asked her why she had bid two spades inasmuch as I felt two clubs could be made and we needed only 40 points to make the game. We had a general discussion in which our opponents claimed that my wife should have bid one spade after North's double if she wanted to bid at all. This was questioned by my partner, who claimed she could not bid after a double with less than two and a half honor tricks. Here are our specific questions:

"1. Should East bid one spade after the double?

"2. Should East bid two spades on the second round, after West's two clubs?

"3. How should the bidding go and where should it stop?

"4. Was the two no trump by West correct?—M. H., St. Louis."

The first, and therefore the most important, error was made by East in her failure to bid one spade directly over North's takeout double. It is not a fact that two and a half honor tricks, or anything like that number, are required for such a bid. Indeed, with that good a hand, East's best action would be neither a pass nor a spade bid, but a redouble.

The best way to gauge East's proper action in a case of this sort is to consider what East would bid if there were no intervening double. In that case her correct action would, of course, be to bid one spade. Since that is so, where is the logic in changing the bid simply because North has interposed a takeout double? The very fact that East is so weak in honor tricks is all the greater reason for showing the spade suit as cheaply as possible, thereby announcing East's desire to play a spades rather than clubs and warning West that East could neither afford to redouble, nor pass and "listen" to the opponents, then re-enter the auction at a higher level. Answering the specific questions:

1. East indubitably should have bid one spade directly over the double.

2. East had gotten herself into a jam by her previous pass, but the two spade bid at this point was probably the best way out.

3. The bidding should have gone as follows:

West	North	East	South
1 club	Double	1 spade	Pass
1 no tr'p	Pass	2 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

4. The two no trump bid cannot be condemned in view of West's four honor tricks and intermediates, but a pass would have been more discreet.
